State Youth Culminate Year's Dairy Showing Activities

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The filtering process of breeding, training, showing, keeping records and all the travel and extra effort required to keep and show a dairy animal is an undertaking for which many adults don't or can't have time or energy.

For the state's dairy youth, the efforts are part of a learning process of what makes and is a top quality dairy animal. And for many, the showing done while a member of 4-H will be the last time they enter the showing.

In this context, the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show carries with it a huge amount of emotion and weight in the eyes of the youth.

Monday's show, held in conjunction with the All American Dairy Show at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, carried with it all those things.

In appreciation of their effort, judges of the show made extra efforts to encourage the fewer than 100 spectators to applaud the youth's showings.

The show was attended, however, by many of the state's dairy industry and agriculture's top officials, including state Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff, who took time from his schedule to check on the show and review the placings.

Type judges for the shows included Dr. Lee Majesky, of the University of Maryland, for the Milking Shorthorn, Guernsey and Ayrshire; Dr. David Dickson of Madison Wis., for the Brown Swiss and Jersey; and Richard Keene of Gibletsville, N.Y., for the Holstein breed.

Showmanship judges included Benjamin Dum, of Ellitsburg, Robert Barley, of Conestoga and Lisa Francisco, of Branchville, N.J.

KILE Announces Outstanding Youth

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 36th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on October 1-5.

Along with a huge array of livestock, the Exposition will include commercial and educational exhibits, top quality entertainment, and a tantalizing assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups.

Of special interest is the advanced announcement of the outstanding livestock youth in 4-H and FFA that are to be honored at the opening ceremonies on Thursday evening. The Pennsylvania Livestock Association will honor the following youths. They are:

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Consigning a calf to the Eastern National Holstein Sale for the first time Wednesday evening, Mark and Alan Meyers of Tidy Brook Farm, Greencastle, hit the jackpot, sharing honors for having the highest selling lot, receiving $16,000 for a 4-month-old heifer calf.

The sale was held in the Small Arena of the state Farm Show Complex, as part of the week-long Pennsylvania All American Dairy Show.

An equally priced offering of the national sale was a first choice

8 Great Reasons To Keep Roundup® Around All Year Around.

All around the farm, all season long, versatile Roundup® herbicide can help you in more ways than any other herbicide. From weed control along fencerows to controlling the toughest perennials like milkweed, johnson-grass or bindweed, Roundup can handle the job. And because the price has been reduced 40% since 1985, Roundup is a better buy than ever. See me for versatile, economical Roundup. It's the help you need all around the place.

Get rid of weeds around your farmhouse, driveway and patio this summer.

Eliminate grasses along fences, ditches and roads during the summer.

Clean up perennials after harvest.

Renovate pastures in spring or fall.

Reduce mowing trips on set-aside all summer long.

Control weeds pre-plant in early spring.

Stop in-crop weeds with a spot spray or pipewick in July.

Control brush anytime you've got time.

MICHAELMAS DAY, SEPTEMBER 29

A GOOSE FEAST

September 29 is the feast day of St. Michael the Archangel and also one of the Quarter Days when summer work ended, school started, rents and other payments became due, and you paid your servants and gave them winter clothes. Even Shakespeare uses Michaelmas as a point of reference in Henry IV (and The Merry Wives of Windsor). Michaelmas Eve, September 28, was described as an evening of family games and fun. A tradition of eating the Michaelmas goose is still alive in northern Europe since geese are plump and ready to eat this time of year. The goose was usually stuffed with potatoes to cut the grease and served with a creamy onion sauce. An old saying insisted that "if you eat goose on Michaelmas Day, you never want money all the year round."

So many days old the moon is on Michaelmas, so many floods after.

TIP OF THE WEEK

To get relief from a nagging cough, put a dab of honey on the back of your tongue.

EARTHWISE

After cooking something smelly, like fish, just stick a whole, unpeeled lemon in a 300° F oven for 15 minutes with the door slightly open, or slice a lemon into a pot with boiling water for a nice fresh scent. You might want to use some of your herbs and spices instead of commercial sprays. Sprinkle some cloves, nutmeg, or ginger on the floor before vacuuming, or put some sprigs of fresh herbs in your oven after you are done roasting or cooking. Put some cinnamon sticks and cloves in boiling water and let simmer for a few minutes.

BUTTERMILK/HERB SALAD DRESSING

½ cup buttermilk
½ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon dried basil (or 1½ teaspoons fresh basil, chopped)
½ teaspoon dried dill weed (or 1½ teaspoons fresh dill, chopped)
dash of Worcestershire sauce
salt and pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients in a jar. Cover and shake well to mix. You may want to use a blender. To use buttermilk powder: Substitute 2 tablespoons buttermilk powder and ½ cup milk for the liquid buttermilk. Makes 1 cup.

OPINION

Poultry & Livestock Farmers: Next Week Is For You

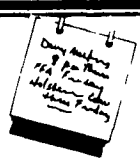

Next week the Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 36th year at Harrisburg, and the second Northeast Poultry Show is in Lancaster. KILE runs October 1-5 and NPS is scheduled for September 29-October 1.

The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep and horses. Besides a huge array of livestock, you will find a large group of commercial and educational exhibits, as well as top quality entertainment and an assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups.

At the Poultry Show, the combined efforts of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation and the Northeast United Egg Producers promises to bring an outstanding array of exhibits and educational programs to the show. Before last year, the two organizations held separate conventions. Then last year, they combined efforts and found that 750 people went through the exhibit hall. And this year promises to be even better.

So if your interest is livestock or poultry, next week's activities are for you.

To Visit

Children's Teachers

Many schools are now having their open houses or parent-teacher conferences. These are very important and every effort should be made to participate.

Here are a few suggestions offered by teachers and parents to make parent-teacher conferences less defensive and stressful and more constructive:

- Talk to your child about the meeting and ask for his/her suggestions as what needs to be discussed. Reassure your child that conferences are helpful to his/her learning.

- Get acquainted with your child's teacher. Be familiar with the teacher's style and approach.

- Be prepared with information about your child. Be ready to express concerns about school work and your child's progress.

- Ask the teacher about what goes on in your child's school, so together you may set goals and establish checkpoints.

- Follow up on any concerns identified during the conference with frequent, informal contacts with the teacher.

The quality of a child's education begins at home. Interested parents must take an active role in their children's education. Start now by attending your school's open houses and parent-teacher conferences.

To Practice Safety

With the stressful and long hour-filled days of harvest upon us, farmers, their families, and employees need to take extra steps to avoid accidents around machinery, livestock, manure pits, and forage storage structures.

Last year in Pennsylvania, farm fatalities showed no preference to the day of week, but most occurred between June and October. Most fatalities occurred in the 70-79 age group with the 0-9, 50-59, and 60-69 age groups having the second largest fatality rate.

Tractors accounted for more than 67 percent of the accidents. Thus, we must be extra concerned about children and older farmers.

A safe harvest season depends on safety conscientious people. Make it the rule for your farm.

To Fertilize Alfalfa

According to Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, we are seeing more fields that appear to be deficient in potassium (both corn and alfalfa).

Deficiencies may be caused primarily by two things: 1. potassium deficiency in the soils, which should be verified by soil tests or 2. by something interfering with the roots' ability to take up potassium.

Alfalfa is a heavy feeder of potassium. Potassium is also one of the nutrients alfalfa needs for overwintering. So, to help your stands survive the upcoming winter and be productive next year, be sure they have adequate fertility this fall.

Also, do not forget to check your soil's pH and apply lime as needed.

SLOW LEARNERS
September 27, 1992

Background Scripture: Judges 4 through 5.

Devotional Reading:
Judges 6: 11-16.

In March, my wife and I rented a car and drove through a sizable portion of what had been until recently East Germany, the German Democratic Republic. One of the places we visited was the old city of Weimar, one of Germany's greatest centuries of culture. Among the many notables who lived here at one time or another were Goethe, Schiller, Bach and Liszt.

On the outskirts of this venerable city, however, is a shameful monument that seems utterly incongruous with the city. On a low mountain overlooking Weimar are the remains of the Buchenwald Concentration Camp, where thousands of Jews and others were cruelly imprisoned and many executed during World War II. Some of those who survived these terrible experiences tell us that, during the war, some of the inmates questioned how, if there was a God, a place like Buchenwald could exist. Some people lost their faith as a result of this experience, while others found their faith intensified.

WHY?, GOD, WHY?

Whenever some tragedy or injustice takes place, people want to know how God can let these things happen. If God is in charge of the world and if he loves us all, how can he permit such inhumanity? Part of the answer is, of course, that while God wills justice, righteousness and peace, he gives us the power to either fulfill purposes or thwart them. God wants us to be good, but he does not compel us to be so. So then, if God allows us to make those choices, how can he be in control of the world?

I think the answer is to be found in the timeframe from which we view the world. In the short run, it is definitely homo sapiens who chooses the day-by-day events of history. But in the long run, it is God who shapes all these human patterns into a pattern which will eventually accomplish his will. We can see some of this in the Book of Judges. No matter what God does for the people of Israel, no matter how many times he forgives the people for their rebelliousness, still the people stubbornly resist God's will on a daily basis: "And the people of Israel again did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, after Ehud died" (4:1). So, in the short run, the people of Israel made their rebellious choices that were contrary to God's will.

Although God does not forbid these choices, in the long run he can even weave these bad choices in a mosaic of forces that allows him to accomplish his will. This is what we find in the story of Deborah and Barak. The people have sinned grievously and brought destruction upon themselves: "And the Lord sold them into the hand of Jabin, King of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor" (4:2). Typically, when they begin to suffer for their evil choices, the people of Israel pray for God's deliverance. Disobedient as they have been to him, he is always ready to listen to their prayers.

MOSIAC OF CHOICES

The military preparedness of Israel is probably at one of its lowest ebbs. The Israelites do not seem to have what it takes to fight against foes like Sisera and Jabin. But God enlists the aid of a gifted woman who wisely governs in the Israelite state. She can't relieve Israel's troubles and neither is Israel's general, Barak, a bold enough man. But God gives Barak a message through the popular woman judge, Deborah, and through her he is able to muster the courage to field his small army against the foe.

In the end, by the power of God the Israelites forge a smashing victory. In time, the concentration camps of Nazism were torn down. In time, the Communist world threat was eliminated. Dictators come and dictators go. No evil power has ever been able to indefinitely sustain itself in this world. Eventually, God manages to undo our rebellious choices and still accomplish his purpose.

And, instead of learning from these long waits of God's justice and providence, like the people of Israel, we quickly forget and soon do again "what was evil in the sight of the Lord". Like them, we are still slow-learners.

Fixed competitive payments
Flexible payment schedules
Year-end tax planning
100% deductibility

Some people get all the breaks.

Put the breaks on your tax bill. Get your equipment with a true tax lease by December 31 and your payments are 100% tax-deductible as an operating expense. Plus, with an annual payment schedule, you can benefit from a large tax write-off this year and not make a second payment for as many as 12 full months.

You'll have several more good reasons to look forward to a happy new year. You can lock in your order now and take delivery in 1993. You'll enjoy fixed, competitive payments and can choose a payment schedule that allows you to skip payments in the months or season of lowest income. You also can get whatever you want right now without jeopardizing your ability to fully depreciate other assets bought earlier in the year.

Find out how lease financing can help you get all the year-end breaks you deserve. Contact your local Telmark representative today, or call 315-449-7964.

149 Dairy Animals Shown At Susquehanna District

LAURELTON (Union Co.) — One hundred and forty-nine dairy cattle representing six breeds were shown in the 10-county Susquehanna District 4-H Dairy Show held earlier this month at the West End Fairgrounds in Laurelton, Union County.

The large number of 4-H youth dairy project animals from Centre, Clinton, Juniata, Lycoming, Mifflin, Montour, Northumberland, Perry, Snyder and Union Counties became eligible for this show by having received a blue ribbon for their entry in their local qualifying show. The district show is the qualifying event for statewide competition.

Type judge was Paul Knight of Airville, who placed the cattle and selected a grand champion of each breed.

Ayrshire grand champion was a 3-year-old cow exhibited by Steve Fisher of Muncy. Lindsay Martz of Dalmatia showed the grand champion Guernsey, a spring calf.

The grand champion Jersey was a 4-year-old cow owned by Douglas Boop of Millmont. Kathryn Jarret of Montgomery showed the grand champion Holstein, a 4-year-old cow.

Three of these champions, Jarret's Holstein, Daubert's Brown Swiss, and Martz's Guernsey were from dams owned and bred by the exhibitor.

Exhibitors were judged for the showmanship ability by John Harris of Harrisburg and the fitting skills by Brian Fleisher of Newport. Eighty-five of the animals exhibited received blue ribbons based on type and qualified to go on to the Pennsylvania State Junior Dairy Show, held Monday at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

Showing cattle not only increases the skills of the 4-H member in selecting and exhibiting dairy animals, but it builds confidence and introduces them to 4-H'ers from other counties.

These experiences are often long-remembered by the 4-H youth whether or not their future career is in farming or another aspect of agriculture or even in an unrelated field.

Showing cattle is only the tip of the iceberg of what these youth do with their 4-H dairy projects. Throughout the year they work with their animals and keep records of feeding, veterinary and other costs and well as the production returns of milking cows.

They learn about the business of dairying and they participate in county-wide 4-H events.

Judge Melanie Horschler, a former Penn State judging team member and sheep herder, chose Jezebel for the champion FFA sale lamb owned by Lancaster County Dairy Princess Jill Harnish.

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.)
 — In their final appearance at a county fair, Lisa and Lyndon Reiff again took home most of the trophies with their Suffolk sheep. At the Lampeter Fair on Wednesday, Lyndon was named both champion showman and fitter, while his sister took championships in both market and 4-H sale lamb competition.

Judge Melanie Horschler, a former Penn State judging team member and sheep herder, chose Lisa's 104-pound Suffolk as the top market lamb.

"It's the most complete package," Horschler said of the middle-weight lamb. "It's got lots of style, eye appeal, and carries its depth of muscling from end to end."

"It's going to be my Farm Show sheep," Lisa said of her prize-winning market lamb that had been purchased from Tom Slack, an Indiana breeder. Lisa had a previous reserve champion market lamb at the state Farm Show and is hoping for the top spot this year.

Lisa's 4-H sale lamb, to be sold at the Fair, was described by Horschler as "close to ideal in finish."

Horschler chose Lyndon as the top showman and fitter for having his lamb under control at all times, being relaxed but maintaining good eye contact, and for smoothness and speed in setting the lamb real square with her head up.

In the junior fitting division, Greg Hess came in first with Kyle Harnish being named junior showman.

A new face in the winners' circle was Lancaster County Dairy Princess Jill Harnish, who showed the champion FFA sale lamb named Jezebel. Jill, a Solanco senior did not expect the 132-pound Suffolk to be a champion until she sheared it. "Then I saw what good muscling she had," Jill said. She had purchased the lamb from Bill McCauley of

MegaSeal Coupling

The nose, or "beak," creates a concentric line seal on the male JIC.

JIC Coupling

THE MEGASEAL™ COUPLING FROM GATES

BETTER BY A NOSE

MegaSeal Couplings are designed with a rounded nose, or "beak," instead of the conventional flared seat of the female JIC swivel. The beak makes all the difference: when tightened or pressurized, the beak flexes, making an ever tighter seal on the male cone. Rigorous testing proves that, for stopping leaks, MegaSeal Couplings are every bit the equal of FFOR, less expensive than FFOR, and are now the standard by which the industry will measure performance in the years to come.

Comparisons with JIC

In comparing MegaSeal Couplings to JIC, the contrast is more remarkable, as the chart below shows. In order to achieve the same sealing pressures as the MegaSeal design, standard JIC fittings must be over-tightened. Over-tightening often cracks the nuts or seats, leaks develop, and the assembly must be replaced.

WEEP NO MORE

MegaSeal Couplings mate with standard male JIC fittings.

My corn acres are planted to hybrids that pass my test.

I've learned over the years that almost everything works better if I have a plan; and that includes deciding which hybrids should go on the bulk of my corn acres. That's why no new hybrid makes it into my "permanent" lineup until I've seen it on my own farm for at least two years.

Take my Jacques 7820, for example. I started with it because it looked good on a neighbor's place all season long. Well, the two years I tested it were about as different from each other as any two years could be. But both times, 7820 was right up at the top in yields and acted like it was bred just for those conditions.

That made me wonder if I really needed to do my own testing — but I like the extra level of confidence it gives me.

So I'm still doing it. This year, my new one is Jacques 7970 and it'll get its chance at more acres if it outperforms the hybrid I'm comparing it against. I'll admit it's not a real complicated system; but it works for me.

PSU Livestock Team Makes Strong Showing

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Penn State Livestock Judging Team made a strong showing at the Eastern States Exposition Livestock Judging Contest in West Springfield, Massachusetts, last Saturday. Following only three weeks of practice and a pre-contest workout that included stops at Dunwalke Farm (Polled Hereford and Gelbvieh cattle) in Far Hills, New Jersey, Hudson Pines Farm (Simmental cattle) in Tarrytown, New York, and Rally Farms (Angus cattle) and Northview Farm (Suffolk sheep) in Millbrook, New York, the team was prepared for competition.

The Penn State team garnered second in sheep and then outscored Virginia Tech, Delaware Valley College, and West Virginia in beef cattle and swine to win those divisions and finish first as a team overall.

In individual categories, Penn State team members enjoyed success and finished with several noteworthy placings. Dave Elkin, an Agricultural Engineering major from Marion Center, Indiana County, had a good day. Dave was high individual in sheep, second in swine, fifth in beef cattle, third in oral reasons, and finished as the high individual overall in the contest.

Leigh Ann Brown, a Dairy and Animal Science major from Nottingham, Chester County, finished fourth in beef cattle and swine judging, seventh in oral reasons and third overall. George McQuiston, another Dairy and Animal Science major, from Harrisville, Venango County, finished as high individual in swine judging, eighth in oral reasons and fifth overall. Lori Cash, an Elementary Education major from Centre Hall, Centre County, was high individual in beef cattle and oral reasons, and finished seventh overall. Bob Leslie, a Dairy and Animal Science major from New Castle, Lawrence County, also contributed to the team's success, finishing eleventh in the contest with consistent placings and oral reasons.

The next two contests for the Penn State Livestock Judging Team are at the Eastern National Livestock Show in Timonium, Maryland, today and at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) next week in Harrisburg.

heifer consigned by Plushanski Farm in Kutztown.

Several hundred people attended the sale as buyers or observers, and witnessed an unofficial total sale of $273,150 for the 56 lots consigned. The average sale price was $4,878.

Five intended lots were pulled from the offering. Two were added. All prices for the sale are unofficial until sale managers have an opportunity to check over details.

Buyers from Pennsylvania, Ontario and nine states — including New Jersey, New York, Maine, California, Wisconsin, North Carolina, Texas, Vermont and Georgia — purchased consignment animals during the sale.

Many consignments came from Pennsylvania, along with offerings from many other Northeastern, Eastern and Southern states. There were even offerings from Wisconsin, Illinois and Ohio.

ABS Specialty Genetics, DeForest, Wis., purchased the Meyer's calf, Tidy-Brook Tesk Scamper-Et, a daughter of sire Tesk-Holm Valiant Rockie, an Excellent 94-GM, with PTAs of +2,124 pounds milk, +52 pounds fat and +69 pounds of protein.

The dam is Tidy-Brook Sally Cleitus and the grandam is a Very Good 85-point Ned Boy daughter which posted a 365-day lactation record of 41,439 pounds of milk, 1,378 pounds of protein. She started that lactation at 3-years, 10 months old.

The dam, Sally Cleitus, posted a 365-day record as a 2-year-old of 30,946 pounds of milk and 1,079 pounds of protein. Scamper is the first heifer out of Sally, although she already has three sons in artificial insemination sire-proving programs and 10 others contracted.

The records on the dam and grandam were made on two-times-per-day milking, not three.

"We were pleased with the price," said Mark Meyers, who is in partnership with son Alan on their fourth-generation Franklin County dairy farm, where they milk 80 registered Holsteins.

Except for the 4-H and local shows for the children, the Meyers do not show cattle, they said. However, the Meyers are not new to the Eastern Holstein Sale. Last year they purchased a calf and Wednesday said they were pleased with the growth of the animal. They said it seems to be following the promise of its pedigree.

The other top selling offering was the Plushanski consignment, which was purchased for $16,000 by Andrew Stoltzfus, of Morgantown, in Berks County. Stoltzfus milks about 120 grade and registered Holsteins and has a rolling herd average of more than 20,000 pounds of milk.

The first choice female of a flush being made on Plushanski Blackstar Fia-Et, a Very Good 87 as a 2-year-old, already has international interest in the genetics, with a bull from the same crossing of Fia and A Ronnybrook Prelude-ET, Canada's top LPI sire, already contracted to a Japanese business.

For $10,000, Lester Poust of Muncy, purchased the third highest selling lot — a first choice female from eight pregnancies out of a Ned Boy daughter crossed to Exranco Thor which was consigned by E. James McMath II, of Mt. Union.

The dam of the pregnancy is no ordinary cow: Bardale Ned Boy Jonell, in addition to being classified for type as an Excellent 92-point female at 5 years old, has also finished her last 365-day lactation on twice-per-day milking with 43,000 pounds of milk, 1,919 pounds of fat, and 1,533 pounds of protein. She was the national champion for protein and was second for fat.

The fourth highest selling was a consignment from Kemview Holsteins, of Bainbridge, N.Y., which sold to a Maine syndicate for $9,500. The consignment is a very senior yearling, just under 2-years-old, due Nov. 13 to Singing-Brook N-B Mascot-Et, a Very Good 88-point GM, with PTAs of +2,132 pounds milk, +54 pounds fat and +71 pounds of protein.

The Maine syndicate consisted of Steve Keene, Steve Smith, and Chet Crosby, of Auburn, according to sale records.

Fifth highest on the list was a first choice female from a flush out of a 2-year-old Very Good, 88-point Blackstar daughter with an Excellent mammary. It was consigned by Rick Wadel of Shippenburg and Ricecrest Holsteins of Chambersburg. It was purchased by Dennis Yousey, of Casanova, N.Y. for $9,000.

The dam, Wa-Del RC Blackstar Molly-Et, has already posted a 254-day record of 19,311 pounds of milk with a 3.6 percent fat content and 3.2 percent protein content.

Although no price records were broken, the sale was a success and highlighted a lot of strong genetics, according to sale officials.

On the sales staff were well-known Holstein salesman Horace Backus; Dave Rama, of The Cattle Exchange; Bill Nichol and Ken Raney of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association; and Dale Kranz, Duane Conant, Mike Weimer, and Don Welk.

Jan Harding, program director of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc., along with several dairy princesses, also helped keep track of the sale, making it run smoothly, Raney said.

Taking the supreme champion gilt was another York County veteran, Roger Bankert of Hanover. His winning Chester female was March-born.

In the supreme champion barrow contest, 9-year-old Dallastown 4-H member Jocelyn Eberly beat the field of veteran competitors with her purebred Hampshire entry. JOYCE BUYP YORK (York Co.) — FFA exhibitor Jim Neutzel left the York Fair's market swine sale with a pleasing jingle in his pocket - or at least a boosted checkbook balance.

The Red Lion vo-ag youth topped the annual York Fair FFA swine and sheep sale with his champion market hog that fetched an $800 price. Determined buyers were Sam and Pat Adams of Glen Rock, who hung in the action with the final bid.

Neutzel, of Felton, is 13, and the champion win was his first banner honor. The winning crossbred weighed in at 236 pounds.

Reserve champion exhibitor was Dover FFA member Mike Stermer, who wrapped up his vo-ag showing career with the second-high hog honor. The purebred Duroc sold to Hatfield Packing Company buyer Kenton Good for a $350 winning bid.

Champion market lamb exhibitor LeAnn Graham sold her winning Hampshire entry to Long Lane Farms of New Oxford. The top-placing lamb weighed in at 98 pounds and sold on a $210 final bid for the Red Lion FFA member.

In the breeding swine competition, David Myers, Northern FFA, took champion honors in the Chester and Spotted breeds, while Jim Neutzel, Red Lion, topped the Hampshire and Yorkshire shows.

Breeding sheep honors were split by Red Lion FFA exhibitors LeAnn Graham, Dorset and Drew Bankert, Southdown.

Kennard-Dale FFA exhibitors Allen Hushon and Bambi Boothe shared the Holstein show grand and reserve honors. Paul Rauhauser, Dover FFA, won both Guernsey and Jersey breed title.

And bought it.

It multiplies the earthworms and loosens the soil like a sponge to hold the rains (instead of runoff) for future use in drought. Our customer's crops show it. It contains many, many minerals and trace elements for healthy crops and to balance your livestock feed better than a computer can do it. You need to buy less minerals. Three of our dairy customers said - they buy none - another savings! And their cows have less problems - another savings! One said he thinks he makes as much profit as one who gets 70 lbs. milk per cow per day.

Martin Bids Brilliant Farewell At Ephrata Sheep Show

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff
EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — "It's a great way to end a 15-year-old career," Jeff Martin said of his placings at the Ephrata Fair Sheep Show on Wednesday night.

"My luck always has been up and down," the 21-year-old from East Earl said. His success was on the up side for his final appearance at Ephrata sheep competition where he took grand champion showmanship honors and grand champion over all breeds with his champion Suffolk ewe. He also showed the grand champion Cheviot ram.

It was Martin's third year to win champion showmanship at Ephrata. "I like his control and the way he makes his lamb look as good as possible," said judge Cheryl Fairbairn, who is a livestock extension agent for Chester County.

She told younger youth who were competing for the showmanship title, "Maybe you think it is unfair to compete against more experienced showmen, but life is full of unfairness. You can learn a lot by watching more experienced youth work their sheep."

"I'll miss showing, but I need to concentrate on my business," Martin said of his decision to sell at least half of his 25-head flock. "I'll always keep some sheep because it's fun, and I want to continue to sell market lambs to the youth. In our family's 18 years of showing, we never borrowed sheep or pulled the wool over anyone's eyes to get the wins we got."

Martin credits his sheep career to enabling him to be named the FFA star agribusinessman for the Eastern Region, which covers 15 states, because he purchased his tree trimming business with the money he earned from sheep winnings during his 15 years in showing. He will compete for the national title in November.

A happy Amy Bollinger showed the champion market lamb, which was a heavyweight Hampshire named Roseanne.

"It's Lancaster County bred," Amy said of the 130-pound Hampshire that was purchased from Ed Hess of Green Meadow Farms in Leola.

Thirteen-year-old Amy said that she did not expect to win the competition although her sheep earned several top placings in other shows such as reserve champion at the state Farm Show. Also, her sister Tracy had showed the champion market lamb at Ephrata three years ago. This year, Tracy showed the reserve champion lightweight and competed against her sister. But Amy's heavyweight's muscling impressed the judge, who said, "It's the kind of lamb that I'd like to put in my freezer."

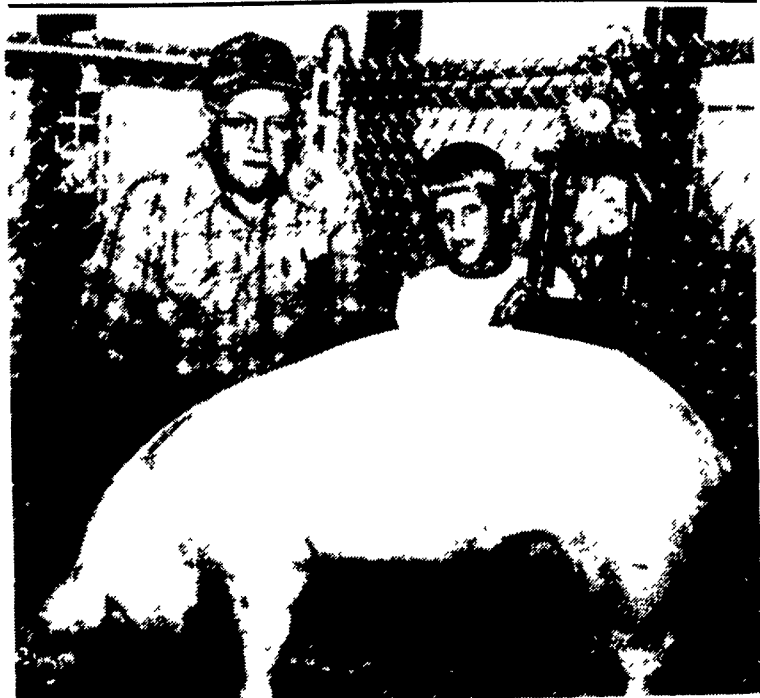

The Bollinger sisters are the daughters of Gene and Carol Bollinger of Manheim. The family raise Dorsets and Hampshires.

Kendall Reiff showed the reserve champion market lamb. Reiff is the son of Sam and Elva Reiff of Ephrata and had won the grand champion market lamb trophy at Ephrata last year. Last week, one of Kendall's Suffolks was named grand champion of the Denver Fair.

Both grand champion ram over all breeds and the carcass lamb on-foot honors went to Troy Bollinger, who showed Dorsets for both champion on Wednesday at the West Lampeter Fair Swine Show.

Twenty-one-year-old Jeff Martin ended his 15-year sheep showing career at the Ephrata Fair by capturing the titles for grand champion breeding sheep of all breeds and grand champion showmanship. Five-year-old Alex Lauffer, daughter of Jackle and Robert Lauffer, who is the Garden Spot FFA advisor, holds the trophy for Martin who is a Garden Spot graduate.

Matt's 254-pound Hampshire cross gilt bested about 98 other hogs for the title in the first swine show in the newly constructed exhibition building which opened this week.

Matt, 18, son of Paul and Beverly Welk, Peach Bottom, won the supreme FFA class with a hog that judge Henry Gruber, New Tripoli, liked for its "well-proportioned top and leveling to reveal a quality carcass," Gruber said.

Senior showmanship honor went to Stephanie Garrett, 17, Pequea, a first-time Lampeter champion and member of the Penn Manor FFA. Junior showman went to Eric Charles, 11, Lancaster, for the first time showing at Lampeter. Eric is in his third year of 4-H.

In the separate 4-H market hog contest, supreme champion went to Eric Charles for his 230-pound York cross gilt.

All the fair shows at Lampeter were staged in the new West Lampeter Fair show building, which measures 12,480 square feet and was finished just in time for the fair at a cost of $88,000. The money for construction was provided through donations from businesses and agencies and from the fair itself, according to Howard Main, fair assistant general manager and head of the building committee. In all, there were a total of 98 hogs and 30 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

Northeastern Farm Credit Celebrates 75th Year

GAIL STROCK

Mifflin Co. Correspondent
LEWISTOWN (Mifflin Co.)—

The Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA, celebrated its 75th year in business by implementing a patronage refund program. President Robert T. Reich discussed the program with 42 stockholders, friends, and guests at their annual banquet meeting held recently at the Lewistown Holiday Inn, Mifflin County.

In his business and management report, Reich said Farm Credit's goal is to meet the needs of its customers by building a strong capital base to withstand the volatility of the economy and farming.

According to the patronage refund policy, anyone who has paid interest into the cooperative will receive a 20% cash refund. The other 80% is held by Farm Credit in the customer's name and will be redeemed in cash at a future date.

Darrell Curtis, vice president of finance and administrative services, said Farm Credit feels it is more advantageous to the membership to return a large portion back to the members of the association - back to the members who own the cooperative.

"It's a valuable tool for the association to help it to continue to maintain a capital base for longer stability," Curtis said. The Board of Directors and Management plans to continue to look at programs that would be of service to its members.

At the meeting, Master of Ceremonies Harold Holt, director of Northeastern Farm Credit, called for the 1992 nominating committee report. The committee recommended that two nominees run as opponents for each vacant director office and nine nominees to be selected for the 1993 nominating committee.

Carl Reed nominating committee chairman gave each director nominee present an opportunity for remarks. The stockholder election process will be by mail ballot with results announced to stockholders by October 28, 1992.

Reich also touched on the Farm Credit system since its inception in 1916 and the enormous changes which have occurred.

Reich complimented dedicated, loyal and committed employees who serve Farm Credit customers and Farm Credit's dedication to training employees to provide quality customer service.

Farm Credit, the largest agricultural lender in the United States, received the highest level of rating by Federal and Bank examiners.

Reich outlined legislative issues that could affect Farm Credit including:

- The Ag Credit Improvement Act.
- The ACA Credit Association Tax Relief Bill.
- Rural Home Ownership Act, and
- Government sponsored enterprises legislation.

Finance Director Curtis gave a 1992 financial overview which covered loan growth, cost controls, and services offered by Farm Credit. Operative costs are controlled by offering a centralized payment system, by constantly scrutinizing employee benefit plans, and by utilizing some employees on a part time basis. Northeastern Farm Credit financial management services include payroll tax forms, farm business records, and income tax records.

To commemorate Farm Credit's 75th Anniversary, Bobby R. Jones, Executive Vice President of Northeastern Farm Credit presented a slide show. Farm Credit began when President Roosevelt appointed a country life commission for the rural population. The Commission found a need for rural credit and formed what became Farm Credit.

The meeting concluded when door prizes were distributed by Dent Hawthorne, Mike Goss, and Linda Marks of the Lewistown Farm Credit Branch.

York Open Supreme To Boyer Holstein

JOYCE BUPP

York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Sun-bend Oh Be Happy Kit B brought smiles again to the Thomas Boyer family of York when she got the judges' nod for York Fair open class Supreme dairy competition.

Judges Mary Shank Creek and John Morris, both of Maryland, highly praised the Supreme designee for her udder and leg conformation. Her recent showing accomplishments also include York Holstein show supreme title and a third place in the Pennsylvania Championship Show Futurity class.

The three-year-old homebred Tiho Kit Builder daughter is scored VG-87, with an EX udder, and is milking 115 pounds daily after calving in June. She also took best bred and owned and best udder in the Holstein breed show. Happy's pedigree includes four out of the five closest dams scored Excellent, from a family originally bred by Cumberland contain Creedin Comman.

As part of the Supreme champion title, the Boyers received a revolving trophy presented annually to the open class top winner in memory of the late Guernsey breeder M. Ebert Rutter.

Reserve supreme was Top-O-Hill Admiral Tina, the four-year-old Jersey breed champion exhibited by Mildred Seeds, Dowingtown.

In their supreme judging comments, the judges cited the tallness, stretchiness and nicely-comformed udder of the GP-83 scored Jersey champion. Fresh for four months, she is projected to a 12,260-pound lactation. For her reserve supreme win, Seeds accepted the William Everhart family trophy presented in honor of former York dairy cattle exhibitors Beatrice Ball and Catherine May Kurtz.

A five-time champion last year, Tina has collected several more top awards this show season. She was recently named Supreme at the Allentown Fair for the second consecutive year, took breed champion honors at Schuylkill Haven, and earned reserve spots at both Goshen and Cecil County, Maryland, shows.

Contenders for the supreme title were breed champions shown by Rutter Bros. of York, with the Guernsey, Heather Crowl, Milking Shorthorn, the Ellis Crowl family's Joyel Farm's Brown Swiss, both of Airville, and Marvin and Norma Jean Bosley, Brodbeck, with the Ayrshire.

Other top Holstein breed show honors went to the Rodman Thompson family's Coredale Farms of East Berlin, exhibiting the reserve senior and grand champion and reserve junior champion. Dar-Dale Farms, the Dale Doll family of Glen Rock, took the junior champion title.

In the Jersey breed show, reserve supreme winner Mildred Seeds also took reserve senior and grand champion and junior champion with her Top-O-Hill homebreds. Rookie exhibitor Matt

Meyer of Seven Valleys claimed the reserve junior champion honors.

Ayrshire reserve champion honor was won by Dauphin county Mary Deaven, who also exhibited the junior champion. The reserve junior champion award went to the Triple J Farms of Spring Grove.

Rutter Bros. of York dominated the Guernsey breed show, taking all champion, reserve and group class wins. Glenn, Gary and Heather Crowl won all top placings in the Milking Shorthorn show.

Reserve senior and grand Brown Swiss went to Joel Dairy Farm, along with the reserve junior champion rosette. Junior champion title was won by Joshua and Jacob Hushon, Delta.

GOSHEN (Chester Co.) — The tenth annual Chester County 4-H Market Lamb Sale held at the Goshen Fairgrounds easily compared to other Chester County sales in past years as the Grand Champion Lamb, shown by senior member Hans Stoltzfus, Elverson,

Schedule Set For KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition celebrated its 35th birthday last year with the largest show in 10 years. More than 4,400 head of beef cattle, swine, sheep and horses from throughout the United States and Canada were entered for competition.

The best livestock breeders and exhibitors in the country are expected to compete at the 36th exposition in Harrisburg, October 1-5. Parking and admission to the Farm Show Complex are free.

The proud traditions that make KILE a showcase for the nation's top livestock breeders will continue in 1992. The show management always tries to keep it competitive with other national livestock shows.

Junior events are a major component of the show. A special show for Pennsylvania's junior swine exhibitors, the production class for junior barrows, is on the 1992 schedule. Other competition for the younger set includes the junior and intercollegiate livestock judging contest, junior beef breeding, junior steers, junior barrows, and the Keystone Stockman's Contest.

The Duroc Keystone Classic Sale, five yearling bred ewe sales, and a feeder calf sale afford breeders an excellent opportunity to purchase quality livestock.

National breed organizations recognize the importance of KILE and frequently use the site for their regional show or as a qualifying event for a series.

KILE's Limousin Cattle Show has been designated by the North American Limousin Foundation as a "Medal of Excellence Show," making it one of eight approved regional shows to qualify participants for their national show.

Once again, the Draft Horse Show is a qualifying event in the North American Six-Horse Hitch

This photo at KILE last year reminds everyone that the 1992 event will get under way shortly. See the daily schedule with the accompanying story.

Classic Series. As many as 20 of the top-rated six-horse hitches will attempt to gain their place in the national competition by scoring well at KILE.

Doebler's best buys

I'M PICKING LOW RISK HYBRIDS FOR 1993

By Bill Camerer

I'm Bill Camerer, Doebler's research director. It took a ton of computer data to verify best low risk buys for 1993.

Here are my top picks for 1993 as advertised. But it wasn't easy. Competition was tough. And maybe I was too conservative. I looked for "low risk" hybrids, ones that are widely adapted and have shelled big year after year.

Some like 57XP I named twice. As an early corn in late midseason country and again as my early mid pick.

But also consider these risk reducers:

Plant at least four hybrids.

Limit acres of your first time hybrids to 15 or 20%.

Only buy hybrids that fit your maturity range.

Stagger maturities to reduce weather risks.

What's new for 1993

FULL SEASON

87XP—High yields, good stalks.

A+ disease rating. Best suited for DE, MD and VA.

82XP—Big ears. Big yields. Ideal for silo or cribbing.

LATE MIDSEASON

62XP—Exceptional yields. Plant thick, feed heavy.

SHORT SEASON

49X—Replaces 48X, 48XE. Bigger plants, better yields.

490-3 way—49X relative for top silage.

27XP—Our earliest. Big healthy plant. Good stalks.

Low risk hybrids that shell big

DOEBLER 86XA, 119 days. Superior standup and plant health. Look for medium length ears on eight-foot stalks. Top yields, too. 1990 best: 222.1 bu. 1991 best: 190 bu. Top 15 average 1988-90: 197.6 bu.

DOEBLER 66XP, 103 days. Our second best seller. Super vigor. Great standup. Amazing yields for maturity. Like Top 15 average in 1988-90 of 196.5 bu. And 1990 best silage of 27.9 tons, 5.4 tons TDN.

DOEBLER 57XP, 97 days. Sturdy stalks. Fairly long ears with deep kernels. Top 15 average in 1988-89-90: 186.6 bu. In 1991, 57XP shelled 180.4 bu. at Oxford, NY, and 182.4 bu. at Sherburne, NY.

DOEBLER 45XP, 92 days. Fabulous yields for early corn. Top 15 average in 1988-90 of 169.9 bu. 1991 bests: 192.5 bu. in Rensselaer County, NY trial; 190.4 bu. at Madrid, NY. Great stalks.

YOUR REGIONAL ADVANTAGE

413 Entries At Northwest 4-H District Dairy Show

MEADVILLE (Crawford Co.) — The 45th annual Northwest 4-H District Dairy Show was held earlier this month at the Crawford County Fairgrounds in Meadville with 413 entries representing the major dairy cattle breeds owned by 4-Hers from a 10-county region.

Counties included in the district are Butler, Clarion, Crawford, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Venango and Warren.

The type judge for the Ayrshire and Holstein show was Jim Burdette, of Mercersburg. Duane Moff, of Salem, Ohio, judged showmanship, while Steve Shaw of Williamsburg, judged fitting.

Judging the Brown Swiss, Milking Shorthorn, Guernsey, and Jersey shows for type was Dave Chamberline, of Wyoming, N.Y.. Showmanship judge was Fred Sommers, of Sowler, Ohio, while Ross Hershberger, of Martinsburg was fitting judge.

Dairy princesses who handed out ribbons and trophies were Julie Wilson of Butler County; Beth Duncan and Christylonn Curtis of Crawford County; Brandie Jo Behringer and Jennifer Braddock, of Erie County; Elizabeth Voorhies and April Walker from Mercer County; and Robin Wells, representing Venango County.

Show officials congratulated exhibitors on the high quality of animals, the strong display of effort to show animals, and the youths' mature and responsible behavior. As a result, 70 trophies for master fitter and master showman were awarded by the judges.

Two hundred of the 413 animals shown received qualifying blue ribbons for Monday's Junior Dairy Show in Harrisburg.

In the Ayrshire competition, Sharon Rader, of Connoquenessing, showed the senior and grand champion, while John Rader, also of Connoquenessing, showed the reserve grand champion.

Crystal Miller of Cambridge Springs showed the junior champion while John Rader of Connoquenessing showed the reserve junior champion. Rader's animal was also judged best bred and owned.

In the Brown Swiss competition, Lacey Zakostecky, of Springboro, showed the junior champion, while Chad Nicolls, of Conneautville showed the reserve junior champion. Nicolls also received the best bred and owned award.

The senior and grand champion trophy went to an animal shown by Matthew Howard of East Springfield. Holly Deeter, of Utica, showed the reserve senior and grand champion Brown Swiss.

Brenda Smith, of Erie, showed the grand and senior champion Guernsey, while Chad Kunz, of Centerville, showed the reserve grand and senior champ.

Troy Hill, of Sandy Lake, showed the junior champion Guernsey, while Keegan Guyer, of Albion, showed the reserve junior champion.

The best bred and owned Guernsey was shown by Lawrence Kramer, of Slippery Rock.

In the Holstein competition, the senior and grand champion animal was shown by Randall Henry, of Grove City, while Christylonn Curtis of Union City showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion.

The junior champion Holstein was shown by Kathleen Duncan, of Meadville, while the reserve junior champion was shown by Maggie Moore, of Mercer.

The best bred and owned Holstein was shown by Tanya Steadman, of Saegertown.

Among the Jersey exhibitors, Pamela McConnel, of Volant, captured three titles with her cow, taking the senior champion award, grand champion and best owned and bred.

The reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion Jersey was shown by Michele Proctor, of Waterford.

Showing both the junior and reserve junior champion Jerseys was Kimberly Miller, of Cambridge Springs.

In the Milking Shorthorn division, David Chess, of Fredonia, showed the senior champion and the grand champion. He was followed by the reserve senior and reserve grand champion entries shown by Tina Wilhelm of Centerville.

The junior champion and best animal owned and bred was shown by Rachel Kline, of Mars, while C.J. Reiser, of Cranesville, showed the reserve junior champion.

"Many individuals and organizations work together to make the Northwestern Pennsylvania Dairy Show a success," said Alan Travis, extension agent. "The hard work of the extension agents and the volunteer 4-H leaders and other helpers also needs to be recognized," he added. "They are the ones who kept the show running and made sure that the records were properly kept."

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — "George Bush" was the front-runner in one show at least — the Denver Fair.

George, an Angus/Main Anjou cross steer, shown by Amy Eshelman, bred and named by Fred Weaver of Ephrata, won supreme champion honors last week at the Denver Fair.

Amy, 18, is the daughter of Larry and Sue Eshelman, Gouglersville. She was graduated from Governor Mifflin High School and has been in 4-H for 11 years. This is her last year of showing.

Tammy Gelsinger won first place in the senior showmanship championship with her Simmental crossbred named Jonathon. Tam-

A Championship Send-Off For 4-H'ers' Last Year At Reading Sheep Show

ANDY ANDREWS

Lancaster Farming Staff

READING (Berks Co.)—Two championship going-away presents were given to 4-H'ers with about 22 years of show experience between them on Monday at the Reading Fair Sheep Show.

And the trophies were awarded to the same breed — an Oxford ewe and ram swept the contest.

Amy Eshelman, who won several Reading fair championships in the past, presented her ewe lamb "Stretch" to judge John Conaway, Pine Haven Farm, Newville (a registered Suffolk sheep breeder). The well-groomed Oxford ewe showed "exactly what the breed should look like," said Conaway.

Amy, 18, daughter of Larry and Sue Eshelman, Gouglersville, said this is her last Reading Fair show. She will be showing animals, however, at this year's Keystone International Livestock Exposition Open Sheep Show in October. Amy is a dairy and animal science freshman at Penn State.

Joyce Heffner, 18, daughter of Mary and Wilson Heffner, Fleetwood, showed her Oxford spring lamb ram "Victor" and competed closely against the Dorset and Hampshire animals in the show ring. But the Oxford provided all the "good pieces in one package," said Conaway. Joyce said this is her last show at Reading, and has competed for about 11 years.

Amy Eshelman swept the grand champion showing and fitting awards. Reserve champion showman was Bruce Snyder, and reserve fitter was Joyce Heffner. Conaway said that selecting the "best of the best" is difficult.

In all, there were a total of 28 exhibitors and about 130 sheep.

'Cookie Moe' Grabs Ephrata Swine Championship For 4-H'er

ANDY ANDREWS

Lancaster Farming Staff
EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) —
"Cookie Moe" was selected the best of nearly 65 hogs shown by 18 exhibitors Tuesday night at the Ephrata Fair Swine Show.

The exhibitor, Gerald Boyd, 14, in the eighth grade at Ephrata Middle School, said it was a combination of care, walking, and using a self-feeder all the way through that granted him a swine championship for the 246-pound light heavyweight class Hampshire/Yorkshire gilt. Gerald is the son of Kerry and Deb Boyd, Clay.

Show judge Henry Holloway, a Hampshire and Yorkshire breeder from Darlington, Md., enjoyed the hog's length of body and fresh appearance, in addition to the important market traits such as muscling and other factors.

Gerald, a six-year 4-H member, said he won a championship in 1988 at Ephrata and has shown at the Elizabethtown Fair and at the Southeast Market Hog Derby. He will also show at New Holland.

Reserve champion was awarded to Travis Donough, 12, a seventh grader at Manheim Central Junior High School. The honor went to a Hampshire purebred gilt weighing 260 pounds from the last class of the heavyweight division. Travis is the son of Ed and Larue Donough, Manheim.

Senior showmanship first place honors went to Tracy Bollinger, 15, a 10th grader at Manheim Central. Intermediate showmanship honor first place went to Cory Pfautz, 14, Lititz, a ninth grader at Warwick H.S. Sister Lisa, 11, a sixth grader at Lititz Middle School, won junior championship.

Landis Solanco Steer Brings $5,227.50

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — A purebred Angus weighing 1,230 pounds out of the middle weight class picked up supreme champion market steer last week at the Solanco Fair.

The Angus, shown by Jim Landis, 18, Quarryville, caught the eye of show judge Tim Beck, York County livestock agent. Beck called the steer "market ready" and preferred it over the reserve shown by Brad Linton, 16, Kirkwood.

Jim, Solanco FFA member, raises about 10 steer animals on his farm and said he was "tired of getting a lot of reserves but no champions" in past shows, he said. Jim is the son of Jim and Linda Landis. Brad Linton, son of Fred and Deb Linton, Kirkwood, is a Solanco FFA member and has picked up several Solanco beef champions in the past. Brad showed his 1,140-pound Hereford/Angus/Maine Anjou cross.

Tom Herr won junior showmanship honors, and senior showmanship champion was won by Jim Landis. There were a total of 11 animals at the show.

Also at the fair, the average sale price for steers was $1.38 per pound, $1.93 per pound for market lambs, and $1.18 per pound for

PREVENT PIGLET CRUSHING

Model 90 Farrowing Crate

Constructed from heavy gauge materials

this crate is designed to reduce crushing, with sow comfort in mind. The bowed bottom bars makes for a comfortable 33" crate width when the sow lays down, yet the adjustable anti-crush bars eliminates the sow from carelessly dropping in the piglets.

This movement restriction does not hamper the sow as she lays down, or wants to stand up, as the bars slide up and out of her way.

Bucks-Mont Two-Cylinder Show Held

BLOOMING GLEN (Bucks Co.) — The colors of autumn were green and yellow in the Bucks-Montgomery area when some forty different exhibitors displayed approximately seventy different John Deere tractors at the Bucks-Mont two-cylinder club's annual tractor show, held on the grounds of the Hilltown Township Community field located in Blooming Glen.

Entries ranged from the rare 1919 Waterloo Boy owned by Homer Kolb of Phoenixville, the 1924 Spoker D owned by Daryl Derstine of Blooming Glen, the 1937 model '62 owned by Dick and Mike Garis of Perkaspie, a 330 utility and a Linderman crawler owned by Del Muse & Sons of Perkaspie, and a good amount of the not so rare models mostly owned by various club members, but all shown with an equal amount of enthusiasm and pride! The level of restoration for a small club is extremely high. Most of the entries were completely restored to like new condition representing many hours of work (or play, which ever the case may be!) Also displayed was a collection of antique engines, a John Deere pedal tractor collection owned by Dutch Maugle of Quakertown, and a few antique cars.

This year's featured tractor, the model "L" series, was represented by fifteen tractors including the model '62, the unstyled "L", the styled "L", the LA and the LI. It was a rare treat to see the complete series in one showing.

Two parades of the "Green and Yellow" were held mid morning and mid afternoon, when the owners got the chance to start their engines and hear the hallowed put-put, music to any John Deere lovers ears, club president Roy S. Landis announced each tractor as they drove by and made various other comments and wise cracks.

Other activities included corn shelling by Doug Rogers and Son of Parkaspie, corn grinding by Grant Zook of Souderton, fodder chopping by Merrill Halteman of Chalfont, and ice cream making with a 1 1/2 HP John Deere engine turning a 20 quart ice cream freezer, owned by Del Muse and Sons of Perkaspie.

Refreshments, baked goods, t-shirts, caps, toy John Deere tractors, plus various other tractor related items were on sale throughout the day. A door prize of a hand made clock featuring the Model 62 with four little toy tractors surrounding it was donated by Dennis Crouse of Riegelsville and won by Howard Kreible of Souderton. Estimated attendance for the day was approximately 1,500 people. The rain held off just enough to make it a fun day enjoyed by all who attended.

Wayne County Dairy Princess Takes State Title

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)

— For the first time ever, the state dairy princess is from Wayne Co.

"I can't believe it," said teary-eyed Crystal Schweighofer as she was crowned by former Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Robin Wilbur. "I never expected to be chosen."

Crystal was chosen from 33 contestants who each competed in county pageants before being eligible for the 36th annual state pageant competition.

First alternate is Jennifer Rosenberry, daughter of Charles and Jewel Rosenberry from Franklin County, who received $600 in prize money. Second alternate is Sandra Gross, daughter of David and Marilyn Gross from Berks County, who also received $600 in prize money. The 18-year-old state dairy princess, daughter of Joan Schweighofer, is awarded $1,200 for her year-long promotional duties.

Competition for the state title actually began three days before the pageant when the contestants arrived at the Sheraton Inn - East. After being interviewed individually, presenting a dairy promotional skit or speech, and participating in informal meetings before a panel of four judges, eight finalists were chosen. In addition to Crystal and the two alternates, the other finalists were Angela Baker, Lebanon County; Brandy Jo Behringer, Erie County; Melissa Spory, Somerset County; and Beth Ann Duncan, Crawford County.

During the final round of competition, the finalists appeared individually for impromptu questioning and were judged for speaking ability before a crowd, content of answer, delivery, and poise.

The judges prepared the question posed by Master of Ceremonies Grover Gouker: What do you consider to be the most important skills in building relationships with other people?

Crystal responded confidently by saying that she considers the most important skills to be listening to what others have to say, to have good eye contact, and to consider others' opinions even if you don't understand them.

First alternate Jennifer Rosenberry responded that she felt that it was most important to introduce

Second alternate Sandra Gross said that she considers it most important to be honest, open, and friendly when establishing relationships.

Awards for the three outstanding presentations went to Amy Nyman of Centre County, Jennifer Rosenberry of Franklin County, and Jennifer Frederick of Blair County. These three each received $100 for the best original presentations.

Amy's speech concentrated on how safe it is to drink milk because of the high standards farmers are required to follow in cleaning cows, equipment, and maintaining a healthy herd.

Jennifer Rosenberry entertained the audience with preparations for Santa's visit on Christmas Eve. To the tune of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," Jennifer sang about Bossy with milk so white, won't you produce your milk tonight?"

Jennifer Frederick portrayed an investigative reporter searching for the facts behind the people's choice — vote for milk candidate.

Other contestants who received honorable mention for their dairy promotional presentations included Jeri Lynn Peterson of Huntingdon County, Sandra Gross of Berks County, Melissa Spory of Somerset, and Natalie Taydus of Warren County.

The two top $50 scrapbook awards went to Jill Harnish of Lancaster County and to Noel Schreib of Chester County. Scrapbook judges Cindy Weimer and Lolly Weimer also gave honorable mention awards to Angela Baker of Lebanon County; Crystal Schweighofer of Wayne; and Sandra Gross of Berks County.

The contestants named Jeri Lynn Peterson as Miss Congeniality.

Co-winners of the Tina M. Shultz Memorial Award of $300 and a plaque went to Jessica Gourley of Warren County and to Carrie Bryant of Wayne County. These two completed their reign during the past year and received the award for doing the most outstanding job of serving the county on behalf of the dairy industry. It is based on the number and kinds of promotional activities accomplished.

Judges for the pageant were Gayle Carson, dairy coordinator of Select Sires in Tennessee; Cynthia Kereluk, dairy spokesperson for MAMMA; Eugene Meyer of Wisconsin, former editor of Hoard's Dairyman; and Shirley Griffith, who is with the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Inc. in New York.

As the retiring state dairy princess, Robin Wilbur asked alternates Tanya Martin and Onalee Smith to join her on stage for a final walk together.

"These are the best 'sisters' that I could ever ask for. We had so much fun working together," Robin said of the past year.

"The dairy industry means everything to me. It's where my parents livelihood and my own future lies. I'm proud to be a farmer's daughter. My goal — to teach consumers about our products — will never change," Robin promised.

Qualifications for dairy princesses require contestants to come from a dairy farm or dairy related background, own dairy animals or they or their parents must be employed in the dairy industry.

They must be single and be between the ages of 16 and 24. They must possess knowledge, poise, and speaking ability necessary to carry out duties as a spokesperson for the dairy industry.

This past year, the 39 former dairy princesses collectively conducted 1,744 school programs, 647 newspaper articles, 741 radio and TV appearances, 561 store and mall promotions, 510 non-farm presentations, 371 farm meetings, and 716 special events. They distributed 176,213 recipe folders and 134,041 pieces of promotional materials.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Getting slugged is no fun.

Believe me, I know. I've gotten slugged several times recently.

On discovering late one evening that the milk jug was again empty, I trudged out through the wet grass to the milk house, admiring a fat yellow moon slipping up over the cornfields on the eastern horizon.

The three of us often go through a gallon of milk a day and somehow the milk jug always seems to run on empty at night. Refilling then is preferable to facing the trauma of a no-milk breakfast when you're only half awake anyway.

When the container was full, I reached for the water hose to rinse out the milk tank drain and the outside of the jug.

And wrapped my fingers around a cold, fat, slimy slug.

Getting "slugged" has been much more prevalent this year than most summers, since those oozy little critters need moisture over which to pull their delicate bodies. They must have hibernated all through last summer's excessively dry conditions.

Now they're turning up in stranger-than-usual places - like the water hose nozzle hung halfway up the ceramic-tiled wall of the milkhouse and the inside wall of the 30-gallon plastic trash containers we use for calf milk storage.

Crisscrossing mazes of shiny slug trails outside the buildings telltale the slugs' journeys from the damp ground into the potentially-lethal environment of dry cement floors and rough blacktop pavement.

Remaining closer - usually - the safety of soil and grass are more welcome critters of the season. The crickets seem to take over evenings just about the time the fireflies burn out.

While the fireflies sparkle summer nights with thousands of twinkling lights flitting over the meadow, the pleasure they bring is strictly a visual one. Crickets, though, are heard more than seen. Their high-pitched songs trill through the hours of darkness, a background as we drift (plunge!) into slumber and an accompaniment to the early-morning alarm clock's screech.

These shiny, black insects seem to be a snack tidbit sought out by some of the barn cats. Often one of the black and white felines will sit motionless along the grassy roadbank for long minutes, apparently waiting for a hapless cricket to come hopping through the tangle and become instant, fresh catfood. About as appealing to me as the sushi bars with their raw fish.

The inevitable spiders are weaving through the season as well. One industrious web-spinner wove a regular safety net about six inches across connecting a leafy begonia houseplant to the raised side of the living room coffee table. Destroying such enthusiastic craftsmanship seemed downright nasty.

Really worrisome, though, was the early appearance - in late August - of the true harbinger of the season. One afternoon during one of those put-an-extra-blanket-

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — Those houseplants you've kept outside all summer may be harboring unwanted guests. "When bringing plants inside for the winter, it's important to keep them on your porch for a few days, where they won't be killed by a frost and where you can check them for insects and other pests," says Dr. Robert Nuss, professor of ornamental horticulture in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "Even one or two insects can be the start of an infestation."

Pests to look for are aphids, mealybugs, spider mites, white flies and scale. Aphids are small, black or green crawling insects that live in thick colonies along the soft parts of stems, sometimes on-the-bed chilly spells, not one, not two, but three fuzzy Woolly Bear caterpillars crawled across my path.

And I haven't seen one since. Maybe that means an intense but very brief winter. Or else those were just the scouts for a major assault.

When three small flocks of Canada geese honked over the farm early this morning, and regrouped into one large V-shaped as they continued south, the annual rush of nostalgia about another too-fast-passing year took hold.

Five minutes later, more loud honking directly overhead drew my eyes skyward. Two geese, probably a pair, were heading right back in the direction from which the large contingent had come. The honking seemed to have a slightly quarrelsome edge to it:

"I thought you turned the lights off!"

"No, you were supposed to turn the lights off while I got the kids off into the air...."

covering them entirely. They excrete a sweet liquid called honeydew, which often attracts ants. "Aphids are quite destructive," says Nuss. "They cause distorted and curled leaves, malformed flowers and hardened buds."

Mealybugs are about the same size as aphids but are white and fuzzy. Masses of them, resembling pieces of cotton, nestle and lay eggs where leaves and branches attach to stalks. Mealybugs can stunt and kill plants by depleting their fluids.

White flies also are small and white, but unlike mealybugs, will take flight if you shake the plant. You'll never find just one white fly on a plant. They come in quantities and can spread to all the plants in your house.

Spider mites are minuscule but very destructive. An infested plant will have yellow-speckled leaves and may be covered with tentlike webs. The mites look like grains of cayenne pepper. They're easy to spot if you hold a piece of white paper under the plant and shake the leaves so the mites drop onto the paper.

Scale appears as blister-like areas on stems and the undersides of leaves. These areas can be circular, oyster-shell-shaped or rectangular and are colored white, brown, grey or black. Scale also produces honeydew, which may drip from the leaves. Scale seriously stunts growth. If not treated, it can kill the plant and spread to other plants.

With a small infestation, you may be able to wipe the pests off with a cotton swab dipped in alcohol. Rinsing the plant under a gentle stream of water for a few minutes can wash away insects and eggs. Keep checking the plant for a recurring infestation during the next couple of weeks.

It's also important to gently dig around the roots and look for pests in the soil, such as sow bugs, millipedes and slugs. You can remove most of these by hand, or you may want to rinse the soil off with a garden hose and repot the plant in new soil.

Serious, persistent infestations can be treated with an insecticidal soap spray or a multipurpose insecticide containing a miticide. Both are available from gardening centers. "Be careful to follow the directions on the label exactly," says Nuss. "Excess spray can be toxic to the plant. If you spray too closely to the leaves, the aerosol propellant can freeze them."

After spraying, keep the plant in a large plastic bag for a few hours to contain and concentrate the spray, then isolate it for about two weeks or until you're sure it's pest-free. It also is a good idea to follow all these precautions if you've bought a plant or received one as a gift. Even well-cared for nursery plants can harbor pests.

Fall also is the time to repot plants that have been outdoors all summer. Turn the plant upside down and tap the bottom of the pot while supporting the plant. The roots and soil probably will come out in one piece. If the roots are crowded into the shape of the pot, it's time to remove the old soil and move the plant to a pot one size larger. If the plant has grown excessively, you may want to trim it to an appropriate indoor size. Trimming can stimulate more growth, so you might need to do it again later.

Is setting your plants outside worth all the hassle? "The advantages are great," says Nuss. "Sunlight, rain and warm weather produce a flush of healthy growth, and the pests usually are easy to get rid of. Overall, it's worth it."

How Can I Get My Family To Eat More Vegetables?

That's a question I'd like to help you with! First, take this simple quiz to find out how much you know about vegetables and their link to disease!

True or False:

1. Most vegetables contain no fat except for avocados.
2. Eating deep green leafy and deep yellow vegetables at least three to four times a week and a cruciferous vegetable one or two times per week may help reduce your risk of certain types of cancer.

3. One way to reduce consumption of fat is to choose foods low in fat such as vegetables, fruits, whole grain foods, fish, poultry, lean meats, and low-fat dairy products.

If you answered "true" to all these questions, good for you! Most vegetables contain no fat. One medium raw avocado contains 30 grams of fat! Some vegetables may play a role in cancer prevention. Vegetables are composed of many natural chemicals in addition to the vitamins and minerals important in good nutrition. Some of these natural chemicals appear to help prevent stomach and colon cancer. By preparing vegetables in ways that add little additional fat, you can help to reduce the fat content of your family's diet.

Many people, especially teens, find that they do like vegetables they did not think they like if they are prepared in a new, different way. Try stirfry for example! Quick and easy, stirfrying requires relatively little fat and preserves the crisp texture and bright color of vegetables. Heat a wok or heavy skillet, add just enough oil to lightly coat the bottom of the pan, add food and stir constantly while cooking. Start with thin strips of diced portions of meat, poultry, or fish. When meat is brown (takes three to five minutes), add small pieces of vegetables such as broccoli, cauliflower, zucchini, carrots, mushrooms, green onions or sugar snaps, and continue cooking for another three to five minutes until vegetables are tender crisp.

Maybe you find your youngsters to be the biggest challenge when it comes to eating vegetables. Try some of these ideas: Have them help you make vegetable robots. To do this cut chunks of vegetables in various shapes and sizes. You might try cutting the tops of celery stalks and using them for hair. Cut carrots into sticks for legs and arms of a robot. Cut the carrots into coins, for a head. You could also try cutting cucumbers, cherry tomatoes, broccoli, and cauliflower for parts of the robot.

Connect the vegetables with toothpicks. If working with small children, help supervise them when using toothpicks. Add raisins for eyes with a dab of peanut butter. Be creative... have the children make and name their own robots, and then encourage them to eat them!

Try the following Herbed Vegetable Combo for a different way of serving vegetables for your family.

Herbed Vegetable Combo

- 1 cup zucchini, thinly sliced
- 1-1/2 cups yellow squash, thinly sliced
- 1/2 cup green pepper, cut into 2-inch strips
- 1/2 cup celery, cut into 2-inch strips
- 1/4 cup onion, chopped
- 1/4 teaspoon caraway seed
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 medium tomato, cut into 8 wedges
- 2 tablespoons water

Heat water in large frypan. Add vegetables except tomatoes. Cover and cook over moderate heat until vegetables are tender-crisp (about 4 minutes). Sprinkle seasonings over vegetables. Top with tomato wedges. Cover and cook over low heat until tomato wedges are just heated (about 2 minutes). Makes 4 servings of about 3/4 cup each.

ADADC Sponsors Program

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) is using the theme "Breakfast in School is Cool" for its second annual school breakfast promotion.

School districts sponsoring breakfast programs will soon receive "Breakfast in School is Cool" promotion kits from ADADC. The kits, which contain posters, handouts, information for parents and promotion ideas for school cafeteria staff, will be used to create interest in eating breakfast in school.

Since a carton of milk accompanies each breakfast, high participation in breakfast programs translates into increased milk sales.

Promotion kits will be mailed in October to about 2,000 schools throughout New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Nutrition education staff will work closely with 30 school districts, about 580 schools, to boost promotion activities.

ADC Meets Farmers' Needs More Than $124 Million in Extra Payments

"At Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, our mission is to maximize returns to members. In the past five years, we returned more than $124 million to members in equity payments, over-order premiums and quality bonuses. That's an average of $35,500 per member. And these extra dollars are continuing at the rate of $1.5 million a month.

"When non-members ask me why they should belong to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, I am happy to report that we are financially healthy, strong in membership and growing in sales. ADC is the region's largest and most fiscally-sound cooperative, with a guaranteed market and outstanding benefits.

"More dairy farmers joined us last year than at any time in the past decade. If you are not an ADC shipper and are worried about your own milk market, then you should talk to the cooperative that is facing the future with confidence."

Discover The Goodness Of Rice

September 1992 marks the second annual National Rice Month Celebration.

U.S. consumers are recognizing rice in a big way. Consumption of rice is now an estimated 20.5 pounds per capita, and climbing. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, annual U.S. rice consumption has virtually doubled since 1979. Consumption grew almost 65 percent from 1980 to 1990.

Health and convenience are solid reasons for the growth in rice consumption. Consumers want to eat foods they feel are good for them. Rice is a complex carbohydrate which is free of fat, sodium and cholesterol. A natural convenience food, regular white rice takes only fifteen minutes to prepare. And, there are now many different rice products that are very convenient, such as seasoned rice mixes, frozen foods, quick-cooking rices, and more.

As part of National Rice month, the USA Rice Council is offering a free brochure filled with easy to prepare recipes, nutrition information and tips on buying and preparing rice.

For your copy of this free brochure, send a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope to: USA Rice Council, Dept. DR, P.O. Box 740121, Houston, TX 77274.

TAKING TIME

by Rebecca Escott

Extension Home Economist

Taking Time For Homework

While you are busy with your farm harvest — baling hay, digging potatoes, picking fruit — your children are rediscovering the shape of an isosceles triangle, the path of the food chain, and the location of Yugoslavia. Your thoughts are on very different topics, and that's a good reason to take a step back and take some time for homework.

Researchers indicate that one of the best things that parents can do for their preadolescent and adolescent children is to practice ongoing monitoring of activities. Monitoring is a continuous process of keeping in touch with your child's schedule, friends, events and concerns. One particular check point with monitoring is homework time.

By using homework as a time to check in with each other, parents and children can regularly talk about how school is going, what assignments are due, and what topics are being addressed. Penn State researchers have found that this monitoring of homework is more critical for boys than for girls. And they show that a young male's success in school may be positively influenced by his parents' attention to his assignments.

Monitoring is not snooping or spying. (This conveys to the child a lack of trust.) It is not completing a child's work for her. Monitoring of homework entails a few things. As a parent, take the time to:

- In the afternoon or early evening ask your child to list his subjects or classes to you and what assignments he has given. If your daughter has a hard time remembering work, teach her to carry a notebook and write down the items.

- Set a regular time and location for homework and reduce distractions so your child can focus on the task. Make sure she has adequate lighting.

- Periodically, drop in to check progress. Some children will need more checking than others. Elementary-school children may need you to sit with them as they work. With high school students, you may not need to review work, but it is still good to check in and ask what they are studying or reading in their literature class.

- Check the accuracy and quality of the work before the child can move to other, more fun, activities. Don't get stuck in the trap of checking homework five

This home-built composting bin is a convenient way to recycle organic yard wastes.

Build A Compost Bin

NEWARK, Del. — Nearly one-third of the materials going into landfills are yard wastes such as grass clippings, leaves, weeds and hedge trimmings, along with kitchen wastes such as potato peels and coffee grounds. These are all organic substances that can be composted and reused to provide valuable nutrients and minutes before the school bus arrives in the morning.

Even if you don't know a lot about biology, it is still good to scan your daughter's vocabulary sheet. It is your routine checking and attention that matters more than your knowledge.

Taking time to monitor homework is just one step in an effective parent's plan to provide a secure, trustworthy environment for her child.

improve the texture of home landscape and garden soils.

Compost is a great soil amendment, according to Jay Windsor, University of Delaware Extension agricultural agent for Sussex County. This organic material increases the water-holding capacity of light sandy soils, and it improves heavy clay soils, making them less subject to compaction and increasing aeration.

A ratio of 30 parts carbon to 1 part nitrogen (30:1) is ideal for a fast compost process. A ratio of 50 parts carbon to 1 part nitrogen (50:1) takes longer. Shredding materials to reduce particle size and mixing them well in the pile will speed decomposition. Various materials must be combined to achieve the right ratio.

To help you get that balance, here are the carbon-to-nitrogen ratios for some common compost ingredients:

Materials High in Nitrogen

Food Wastes 15:1

Grass Clippings 20:1

Cow Manure 20:1

Horse Manure 25:1

Materials High in Carbon

Corn Stalks 60:1

Straw 80:1

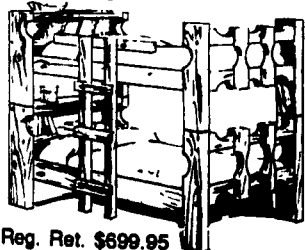

Paper 170:1

Sawdust 500:1

Keep your compost pile small and manageable, Windsor and other experts advise. A 3 feet x 3 feet x 3 feet pile is a convenient size. The more often you turn the pile, the sooner it will be ready. Add water periodically to keep the ingredients damp but not soggy.

Hans Herr Snitz Fest

WILLOW STREET (Lancaster Co.) — In the 1790s, Theophile Casenov toured the recently liberated American colonies. His journal is interesting in that he mentions many aspects of American life that were commonplace to most persons living in the New World. His French and Dutch background further adds richness to his diary, for he made observations without the preconceived notions of the English and German settlers living in early Pennsylvania.

One of Casenov's observations confirms other records of colonial Pennsylvania. Says he "The German farmers are beginning to sow a great deal of clover and turnips, and plant large apple orchards...."

Christian Herr, builder of the 1719 Herr House, certainly followed the pattern described by this late 18th century world traveller. By his death in 1749, Christian had a thriving orchard of 150 trees. Many of the apples produced were preserved by "snitzing" or carving them into thin slices and allowing them to dry. Others were turned into "apfel maust", commonly known today as cider.

Both snitz and cider will play an important part in this year's Snitz Fest at the Hans Herr House. This fall harvest festival, celebrating the important role the apple has played in Lancaster County's history, will be held on Saturday, October 3. Snitz Fest activities will begin at 9:00 a.m. and end at 4:00 p.m.

First director of the museum Earl B. Groff, is quite a horticulturalist as well as a historian. He started the orchard project at the Herr House, which has grown into one of the finest orchards of historic apple varieties in Pennsylvania. There are thirty-two varieties of apples represented in the forty tree orchard-old varieties seldom seen today such as the Famuse Snow Apple, James Grieve, Doctor of Germantown, and Cox Orange Pippin. These apples, and many others, will be available for visitor's to taste and compare at the apple tasting table at Snitz Fest.

Other apple activities are planned as well. Traditional 18th century recipes using apples will be made on the raised hearth in the "Kuche" of the 1719 Herr House. Visitors coming at the right time will be allowed to taste such foods as gumbis, little apple cakes, and boiled apple pudding. The outdoor bake oven at the museum will be turning out apple breads and snitz pies, and next to that, sausage smoked over apple wood will be available for sale at the smokehouse. Several members of the Backyard Fruitgrowers Association will be sharing their expertise in orchard tours and grafting demonstrations. In the middle of the day, an old-fashioned apple pie eating contest will be held, which should be great fun for participants and spectators alike. Cider will be made using a 19th century hand press recently donated to the museum.

While apples were certainly an important part of the 18th century Pennsylvania German harvest, other autumn activities took place then too. By the time Theophile Casenov toured Lancaster County in 1797, corn had become an important crop as well. This year, Snitz Fest will include a corn husking demonstration to illustrate that part of farm life. The corn back then was mainly used to feed pigs, which in turn were the most important source of domestic meat for the early Pennsylvania German settlers. Butchering will be another activity at Snitz Fest, so come find out how such delicacies as stuffed sausage, scrapple, puddings and tenderloin are made.

It may seem surprising that soapmaking in colonial times was a corollary to butchering, but that was indeed the case. That animal fat was an important ingredient in soap linked these two fall tasks. Soapmaking will be a new activity at Hans Herr House this year. Additional activities will include blacksmithing, cloth dyeing, fodder shredding, stone crushing, scherensnitte, and house tours of both the 1719 Herr House and the recently restored 1835 Shaub House.

Snitz Fest is a fall harvest celebration that is designed to be enjoyable and educational for the entire family. Come out and join in the fun as we celebrate the end of another farming year in Lancaster County.

Admission to Snitz Fest is $4.00 for adults, $1.00 for children ages 7-12. The Hans Herr House is located south of the city of Lancaster, 1 mile directly east of the town of Willow Street, Pennsylvania. Take US 222 south out of Lancaster 5 miles, turn left at Kendig Square shopping center onto US 222/PA 741. Proceed 1 3/4 miles, turn right onto Hans Herr Drive. The Hans Herr House is located 3/4 mile on the left. For more information call (717) 464-4438.

The other day our little grandson, Bradley, spent a few hours with me. I think that we accomplished quite a lot in a short time.

We did two load of wash and folded the clothes and put them away in drawers. While they were in the dryer, I made some chocolate chip cookies and of course, we had to sample a few. Then I quartered a big kettle of apples for sauce and he put each one in the kettle. I even let him try to turn the food mill after they were cooked.

My sister tells me that when she has her grandchildren she plays with them and entertains them all day. That just isn't my style as I feel that I have a lot of work to get done. So, I've always expected my own children to help me even when they were youngsters. In fact learning to work and assume responsibility has helped them to this day in their jobs — at least I think so.

When I cooked and made desserts, they were beside me to count the number of tablespoons needed in a recipe. Thus, they learned to count at an early age. And, when I was in the garden, they were expected to help with the weeding and the harvesting. Of course, sometimes the wrong plant got chopped off or pulled out but they learned.

After they were older, their father kept both the girls and the boys busy at the barn and in the fields. There were a few mishaps along the way but somehow they managed to juggle work and school to get both done on time.

Some of our grandchildren have yet to learn the joy of a job well done.

What Will It Be? An Elephant Ear Or A Funnel Cake?

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff
QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — What do you want? An elephant ear or a funnel cake?

That's a tough decision for Solanco fairgoers. Both delicacies receive top ratings from the crowds that pack the grounds during the third week of September.

The Lancaster County Society of Farm Women 15, who turn out thousands of the tasty fried treats, have a difficult time estimating exactly how many elephant ears and funnel cakes they sell each year at the Solanco Fair.

"We're so busy making them, we don't have time to figure out how many we sell," said Kathryn Wagner, who began the fund-raising project in 1978.

Funnel cakes are made from a sweet batter dropped through a funnel and fried in oil. It is drained and sprinkled with confectioners' sugar.

Elephant Ears is a sweet bread dough, shaped like an elephant's ear, fried in oil, brushed with butter, and sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar.

If that sounds like high calories, it is. But Wagner, who holds a weight-loss group in her home, appeases people's concerns with her personal belief: "Everyone deserves to splurge at the fair."

The national trend toward healthy eating and reducing fat intake hasn't dented demand for the fried treats. The popularity of funnel cakes and elephant ears keeps growing and growing.

"Every year we need to buy more supplies than the year before," Wagner said.

"People keep telling us that we have the best funnel cakes they've ever tasted," Arlene Maule, president of the society, said.

"That's because we make everything from scratch," Wagner said. "No mix for us. We could make it a

After Arlene Maule puts 4-ounces of dough through a pastry roller, she stretches it in the shape of an elephant's ear.

Emily Reath weighs 4 ounces of the dough before forming an elephant ear.

The funnel cake batter is swirled into a skillet with a long handle. The skillet, which forms the shape for the funnel cake, is then removed from the hot oil while the batter browns.

After the funnel cake is browned, it is sprinkled with confectioners' sugar.

Kathryn Horner stirs up a batch of funnel cakes.

In 1978, Kathryn Wagner made her first funnel cake. After several years of traveling from fair to fair, she turned her business over to Farm Women Society 15 to use as a fundraiser.

Nathan Miller of Warren recently represented Pennsylvania at the 1992 National 4-H Wildlife Habitat Evaluation Invitational staged at Montauk State Park near Salem, Mo.

According to Sanford Smith, Warren County extension agent, 77 youth representing 21 states from across the country participated in the fourth national competition.

Teams from New York to Utah and Wisconsin to Texas participated in five events testing their knowledge and understanding of wildlife management. Participants competed on their knowledge of wildlife food habits, interpretation of aerial photographs, use of wildlife management practices, and the ability to write urban and rural wildlife management plans.

In addition, 4-H members had the opportunity to expand their leadership capabilities, meet youth from around the country and interact with numerous pro-lot easier if we used a mix, but they (other members) aren't going to use a mix as long as I'm around. I believe in doing things from scratch."

From scratch means using at least 600 pounds of flour.

Preparations for the event begin long before the fair. There are paper plates, napkins, cups, and cider to order. Flour, baking powder, salt, eggs, and sugar are ordered in bulk.

The members begin each day at the fair by 9 a.m. and many don't get to bed until midnight.

The elephant ears must be mixed and left set to double in bulk before they are deflated, weighed into 4-ounce pieces, cranked through a pasta roller, rolled with a roller docker, and stretched into shape before frying in industrial-sized vats.

A roller docker is a rolling pin with long pins that pokes holes in the dough.

"I don't know how it works but the holes add flavor to the dough," Wagner said.

Over the years, the farm women selected a brand of flour, which they said make the best funnel cakes, but this year the flour did not seem to produce as fluffy a product. Wagner doctored the batter and found another brand of flour that enables them to produce top-notch results.

"The weather and the humidity really affects the results," Wagner said.

An industrial-sized mixer is used to mix the dough. On sunny days, the members place tubs of dough in plastic bags and set in the sun around the outside of the stand to double in size. If the sun isn't shining, Wagner hauls the dough to her home where it rises before she transports it back to the fair.

A roller docker is used to poke holes in the dough.

After frying, the elephant ear is dipped in a mixture of sugar and cinnamon.

The farm women donate one half of the profits back to the Solanco Fair. The other half is used for community projects such as scholarships and contributions to the ambulance association, and to the community park.

With all their experience and the thousands of delicacies, do the farm women ever burn a batch?

"Us?" they asked in unison with mock horror. "We — make mistakes?"

But one little voice in the group admitted occasional guilt. "We eat the rejects," she confessed.

- Durable Patz hook-and-eye link chain allows easy maintenance. Progression forging builds extra strength in hook-and-eye link contact points. Final heat treating increases hardness, strength and wear resistance.
- Choice of two link sizes to match gutter length.
- Four-tooth sprocket drives every link. Each sprocket tooth drives each link behind the hook — the link's thickest and strongest point.
- Flexibility for various layouts.
- Select 2" steel angle flites for solid manure or 4" high flites for slurry manure. Flites are welded to Patz links.
- Three drive unit sizes match your gutter length and allow expansion.
- Corner wheel top-and-bottom flanges guide the chain around the corner. Corner wheel assemblies remove easily for service without concrete breakout.
- Automatic chain tightener.
- Heavy-gauge steel slide with steel center beam for added strength.

WORK WATCH

The Work Watch Is Back!

In the mid-1980's we sold hundreds of work watches to hard-working individuals like yourself who needed an accurate, dependable timepiece. They needed a watch that would withstand the dust, moisture, bumps, and temperatures encountered on the farm, in the orchard, and in the woods. Many who bought the work watch told us it was the best watch they had ever owned. Now, due to the past success and the present need, we are again offering the work watch through Lancaster Farming.

Our work watch has all the features needed to endure the punishment you will put it through. The WATER RESISTANT seal will protect your watch when you irrigate fields, fix broken water systems, get milk splashed on your arm while feeding calves, or walk the fence in the rain, to find out where your cattle are getting out. Being SHOCK RESISTANT, your work watch will continue to work when it is slapped by a cow's tail, a falling board, or the belt shield that your arm slams against when your wrench slips off the bolt. While your watch is scraped by branches, rubbed against walls, and knocked against machinery, the low profile, SCRATCH RESISTANT, glass crystal will resist the scratches and cracks that render watches unreadable. Finally, the BATTERY POWERED QUARTZ movement of your work watch is accurate to within 2 minutes per year, and does not need to be wound, meaning that your watch will be on time, all the time, without any effort on your part.

A final proof of the strength of this watch and of its suitability to your needs is the warranty. If your work watch stops running within FIVE YEARS of the date of purchase, the manufacturer will repair or replace your watch at no charge. This is one of the longest warranties in the watch industry. The manufacturer's confidence in this watch means that you can have confidence in its durability and can know that this is the only work watch you will need to buy for the next five years.

District 4-H Horse Shows York County Winners

York County 4-H Horse and Pony Club members recently participated in the District VI 4-H Horse and Pony Show held at the Lower Hopewell Horse Center in Lancaster County.

The 277 4-H members from the seven District VI counties entered in 44 classes that included english, western, trail and therapeutic divisions.

To participate in the district show, members must first have placed in the top three spots in their class at the county 4-H roundup. Members who placed at the top of their class within the quota allotted to each district are eligible to compete at the State 4-H Horse Show on October 30-November 1 at the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg.

York County 4-H Horse Club production members competed in the South Central 4-H Horse production show and futurity at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds. Eight members won blue ribbon awards in the production contest, which qualified them for participation at the State 4-H Show in Harrisburg.

The 4-H horse program is sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension. The York County Extension Office is located at 112 Pleasant Acres Road, York, PA 17402, (717) 757-9657. The program is open to any interested youth age 8-19.

HAPPENINGS

Debbie Rudy holds a reserve grand champion ribbon for rate of gain.

4-H'ers Learn Practical Pork Production

Often times, critics throw stones at livestock shows, but the Southeast Pennsylvania 4-H Market Hog Derby defies all objections.

"The Market Hog Derby may be considered one of the most comprehensive and complete 4-H competitions offered," said Ken Winebark, Lebanon County agent. "This multidimensional educational event for 4-H hog club members from Berks, Chester, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lancaster, Lebanon, Montgomery, Schuylkill, and York counties teaches youth about the start-to-finish aspects of market hog production and beyond."

According to Winebark, the competition goes beyond visual appraisal of the live animal in the show ring or simple carcass contests. It also scores the animal for rate of gain (growth) and meat characteristics or carcass evaluation.

The recent 4-H Market Hog Derby takes into account the real business standards that need to be applied in educating 4-H youth about practical market hog production.

"A number of factors influence today's meat animal production," said Winebark. "Constraints on producers include consumers' desire for lean meat and high costs of hog facilities, among others. These factors dictate that pork needs to be produced quickly and stay lean. That's why the final index and placing in the contest is on the amount of lean pork produced per day."

The formula for arriving at this final index has been developed by the National Pork Producers Council. With the support of the 35 business sponsors who put up the prize money for the derby, 51 youth exhibitors entered the program in May by weighing in a feeder pig less than 60 pounds, raising it during the summer, and then coming to the on-foot show and carcass evaluation program.

While at the live show, Mike Cherchuck, real-time ultrasound scanning technician, demonstrated the proper use of modern ultrasonic equipment used in the swine industry. The results of the contest provided 4-H youth with a more complete understanding of everything that's taken into consideration in raising animals on a commercial basis.

"This program shows that just looking at one aspect, whether it be live evaluation, growth rate, soundness or carcass merit, is not enough," said Winebark. "Evidence of the previous point is brought out by both last year's and this year's show. The champion hog carcass in 1992 and reserve champion carcass in 1991 were extremely lean carcasses that were heavily muscled but daily growth rate and lean pounds of pork produced per day were somewhat below average. On the other hand, the faster gaining hogs tend to be fatter on the whole."

Winebark said this was the case with the 1992 reserve champion rate of gain, which failed to meet national certification standards for maximum backfat thickness. Winebark said the 4-H Market Hog Derby has restored faith in the visual appraisal aspects of showing when the final results were tallied.

In 1991 the champion on-foot was also champion carcass and third overall in daily rate of gain and grand champion lean gain/day entry. The same year's reserve champion lean gain/day was also a class winner. Similar findings were seen in this year's competition. The top Gloucester County N.J. 4-H is starting a new BMX 4-H Club.

A BMX demonstration was given at the 4-H Fairgrounds in Mullica Hill on Tuesday, August 18. The new track at the fairgrounds is a nationally sanctioned track.

T.J. Taylor, a local national expert, 14 years old, gave a demonstration at this new track. Requirements for participating in this sport are helmets, long sleeve shirts, and long pants.

Stacy Krall holds a reserve grand champion on-foot ribbon over the back of her Hampshire hog. The hog was also awarded the reserve grand champion carcass ribbon.

Sara Boyd stands with her hog. She is a specialist, and the carcass was on overall.

three lean gain/day entries in 1992 were class winners.

This year's champion on-foot placed seventh out of 51 entries while the reserve champion on-foot exhibited the reserve champion carcass, placed sixth overall in rate of gain, and third in the overall ranking of lean gain/day on test.

Thirty-five businesses provided sponsorship and awards to all participants, including two $250 educational awards. According to Winebark, those sponsors that the 4-H Derby is deeply grateful to are Thrifty Pallet Co., Shick Farms, Balsbaugh Insurance Agency, Mark C. Hershey Farms, Carlos R. "Without question, the Southeast Pennsylvania 4-H Market Hog Derby has attained its established purpose to 'help evaluate the 4-H members' current management and genetics from the standpoint of carcass merit, growth, and structural correctness.'"

Stressfighter®

To Keep Your Cattle Up and Running.

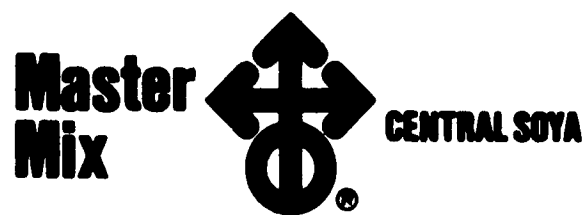

Every time you upset your cattle's daily routine, they suffer stress. Weaning, shipping, receiving—all of these activities contribute to appetite and weight loss. Which means you lose profits.

But with the Master Mix® Stressfighter program, you can battle the devastating effects of cattle stress.

Specially formulated after years of research, Stressfighter feeds contain a palatable mixture of select roughages, proteins and energy to encourage healthy gains. And since stressed cattle often lose vital nutrients, Master Mix adds extra fortification of niacin and B-vitamins to Stressfighter feeds to return your calves to top condition.

Cattlemen across the country credit the Master Mix Stressfighter program for keeping their cattle "up and running." You can, too. Contact us for more information.

YORK (York County) — Farmers in York County now have "one stop shopping" convenience for working with governmental agriculture agencies.

A long-time goal of the several governmental serving York County's agriculture was realized recently when the relocation of several offices within they county's Pleasant Acres office complex on Pleasant Acres Road.

The "Ag Center" location is on the main floor of the complex, combining several agriculture agency's offices, previously located on the lower level, onto the same floor level occupied by the Agriculture Extension Service.

The long-awaited move has been in planning for several years by the York County Commissioners board and the several ag agencies involved, providing both much-needed space for staffers and added convenience for farmers participating in the many farm, educational, conservation and community programs offered.

Agencies relocated adjacent to the Extension Service are the York Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Soil Conservation Service (SCS) and the York County Conservation District.

York County's ASCS office, headed by county executive director Wayne Kurtz, handles the federal farm support programs developed by Congress and utilized by the county's producers. Key programs include those for wheat and feed grains, conservation programs where federal cost-sharing is involved, and periodic special programs such as those for drought disaster. ASCS also administers the dairy refund program in which dairy farmers reducing their annual milk production are refunded their assessments to meat federal budgetary cutbacks.

Assisting Kurtz is his administrative staff of six. Staff members are Fay Craley, Jan Dehoff, Sandra Kelley and Sharon Ryan, program assistants, and Tina Hedrick and Carol Kilkes, office clerk.

Providing supervised credit to farm producers and rural housing borrowers unable to obtain credit elsewhere is the prime responsibility of the FmHA. A major program, according to county supervisor Doug Gabel, is working with guaranteed loans for farms meeting the family farm criteria. These loans are made in cooperation with other farm lenders, for real estate, annual operating and chattel purchases. York County leads the state in participation in the guaranteed loan program.

Other key FmHA programs include the insured loan program of direct loans, annual operating loans and soil and water loans for conservation improvements. Youth loan programs - for investment in a range of projects, like livestock, retail markets, craft marketing and dog breeding - and socially disadvantage lending programs focus on credit needs of specific audiences. Emergency loan programs meet credit needs in the wake of natural disasters.

A rural; housing program is for housing in modest size, design and cost with buyers meeting certain income qualifications. Qualified housing loans, with 100 percent financing, is aimed at buyers previous programs did not serve.

Assisting Gabel are assistant county supervisors Luis Carrero and Chester Pogorzelski, county loan technician Lori Hann, county office assistant Janda Wright and county office clerk Pamela Sturgeon. Niya Spells has been a summer intern assistant.

Soil Conservation Service, like ASCS and FmHA, operates under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). SCS provides primarily technical assistance in the areas of soil and water conservation, natural resource surveys and community resource protection and management. In York County, technical support for implementing Chesapeake Bay programs is a key area of work.

SCS technical expertise works hand-in-hand with the locally-organized conservation districts. Farmers sign up as cooperators with the local district, says York

SCS director Bill Clifton, with his office providing the technical assistance. According to Clifton, York County is first in Pennsylvania in the number of conservation plans established under the guidelines of the 1985 and 1990 Farm bills.

Other York County staffers providing technical assistance with SCS are soil conservationists Ann Meyer and Ron McCandless and soil conservation technician Dean Shank.

Three technical staffers, while operating out of the SCS office, are employed by the York County Conservation District. Mark Flaherty and David Kann handle Chesapeake Bay technical work, and Judy Radell handles SCS clerical responsibilities.

York County Conservation District is a state/county agency managed by a board of local directors to address problems and institute programs of land, water and related resources. A major function is to aid SCS with conservation planning and sign-up of cooperating landowners.

Urban erosion sediment control has been a Conservation District program since 1972 and is an increasingly-larger part of the staff's workload with the continuing urban development of York County. Chesapeake Bay program, technically implemented by staffs working with SCS, have played an increasing role in Conservation District responsibility. The District's focus on environmental education aims at increasing public awareness of wise use of the natural resources.

Mark Kimmel is district manager for the York County Conservation District. Erosion control staffers are Lee Irwin, a resource conservationist, Robert Fetter and Russell Ryan, both erosion control technicians. Dawn Grove serves as administrative assistant and Nancy Wolfrays handles secretary-receptionist responsibilities.

While York's Cooperative Extension Service has not changed location, it is "not the extension we used to know," according to county extension director Roxanne Price.

Extension is becoming increasingly issues oriented, working with programs like farmland preservation, zoning regulations and community while continuing vital leadership work with 4-H youth, family living and agricultural issues.

York Cooperative Extension agents are A. Joan Lamberson, home economist, Roland Freund, farm management, Thomas Becker, horticulture, Timothy Beck, livestock and community development, John Rowehl, agronomy, and Jennie Brown, dairy. Also, Merrill Crone, gypsy moth coordinator, Dan McFarland, agriculture engineer, Judy Bruggeman and Ada Gonzales, nutrition advisors, and Jeanne Wagman, nutrition advisor currently on leave through November.

Office staffers for the York Extension Service are Sara Eisenhart, Kathy Wise, Lisa Irizarry, Carla Shermeyer and Jean McCleary.

National Cost To Produce Milk Soars

MESHOPPEN (Wyoming Co.) — Figures released recently by the United States Department of Agriculture (U.S.D.A.) indicated the National Average cost of producing milk has escalated dramatically since 1989.

Arden Tewksbury, Mgr. of Pro Ag said this week that the U.S.D.A. has revised their milk production cost figures for 1989. The cost figure now is $14.74 per cwt.; and the national average cost of producing milk for 1990 was $14.98 per cwt.

Tewksbury recently testified at a National Milk hearing in favor of eliminating the Minnesota-Wisconsin (M & W) price series as the price setter for all milk prices in the federal milk marketing orders. The Pro Ag leader urged the U.S.D.A. to use the National Average cost of producing milk as the basis for establishing milk prices throughout the United States.

Tewksbury claims the cost of producing milk in the Northeast usually runs about 20¢ per cwt. higher than the National Average cost. This means in 1990 the cost of producing milk in the Northeast would have been approximately $15.20 per cwt., and leaves the average producer a price of $1.74 per cwt. below his production cost, without any return on equity. Pro Ag estimates that when 1991 production costs are revealed; the average dairy farmer lost at least $3.00 per cwt. below his production cost. Sherry Shedd, president of Pro Ag stated that she doesn't feel any dairy farmer will be surprised with the figures released by the U.S.D.A.

According to Shedd, "All of us know that the prices paid to dairy farmers have not been covering the dairymen's cost of production."

Tewksbury, who has been leading an assault on the milk pricing formulas for years said, "it's time for people to wake up! The average price paid to dairy farmers in federal order #2 during 1982 was $13.26 per cwt and in 1983 the price was $13.23. However the average price in 1991 was only $11.79 and the estimated average price for 1992 is $12.75."

Furthermore, current market prices are starting to drop, when they should be climbing.

President Shedd pledged Pro Ag's continued effort to correct the inequities of current milk prices paid to dairy farmers.

Frequency-Based Technology Signals End to Hard Water Problem

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Crandell-Thorley, Ltd. has available a new product, ScaleWatcher, an electronic scale elimination system.

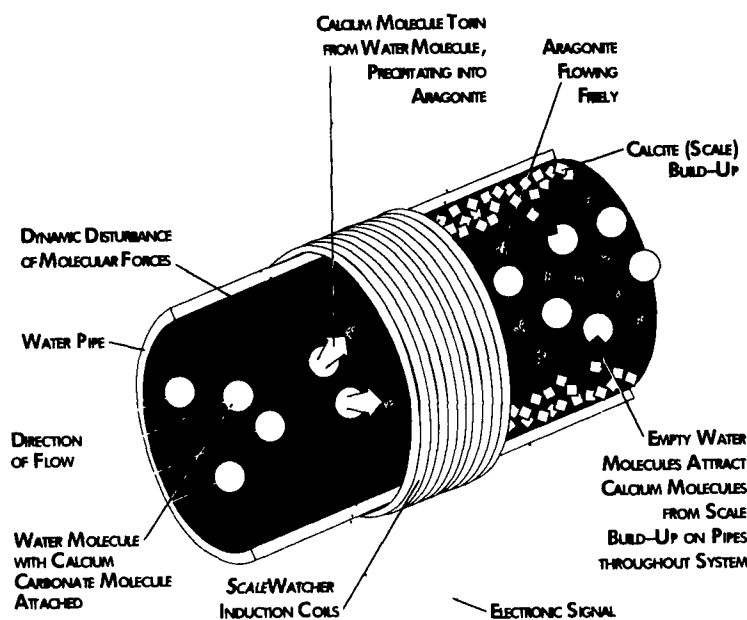

Signs of scales are most visibly significant in areas noted for hard water. The unsightly deposits on faucet heads and plumbing fixtures, the ugly scum around baths and wash basins, mold and mildew, obvious signs of scale or calcium buildup indicate the presence of a much more significant problem — scale buildup on your pipes, water heater, and other water — fed appliances.

The detrimental effects of this buildup include ineffective heating of domestic hot water and the resulting increased fuel consumption, constricted flow of water throughout the home, decreased effectiveness of water-based heating systems, and a significantly reduced life of domestic appliances.

Until recently, the options available for scale elimination and prevention have been limited. The main alternatives have been salt or chemically based water softeners which are expensive to purchase, take up space, require maintenance, and waste valuable water resources. They also require the routine addition of expensive chemicals or salt, which are then periodically flushed into the area water table, posing many concerns from an environmental perspective. The other alternatives are magnetic and electrolytic devices which are often less effective and frequently prove unsatisfactory.

The American-made ScaleWatcher is a wall-mounted device and takes up no floor space, uses about $3 worth of electricity per year, and requires no maintenance.

ScaleWatcher operates on principles involving the application of dynamic disturbance of molecular

ScaleWatcher sends out a modulated signal that changes the electrical and physical properties of the scale-forming calcium molecules. This inaudible signal causes turbulence in the water molecules, initiating a process of forced precipitation of the calcium molecules which, once completed, stops any further buildup of scale and prevents the calcium molecules from adhering to each other or any other surface. The solubility of the water is increased, allowing the water to actually redissolve the scale which is already in the system. By this method, existing scale is taken back into solution and gradually removed. The generated signal adapts to varying water conditions, such as flow rate. The nine-by-six ScaleWatcher unit "softens" water effectively, in that the water is scum-free and gives the benefit of soft water on skin, hair, and clothes. Often, sufferers of dry skin and eczema notice improvements as the natural oils in the skin are more easily retained and the calcium no longer causes irritation and dryness.

Designed to provide the customer with quick and easy installation, ScaleWatcher requires no plumbing, works on all types of pipes, and requires only a domestic electrical supply. The application is made where the water main enters the home. The coil is wrapped around the outside of the water pipe 11 times to create the necessary field for the treatment of all incoming water as it passes through the coil area.

More information on the ScaleWatcher may be acquired by contacting Crandell-Thorley, Ltd., 955 Centerville Road, Lancaster, PA 17601, (717)898-9630.

Landis Bros. Attends Tractor Meeting

WATERLOO, Iowa — Herb Noll general manager and Phil Wimer, parts manager at Landis Bros., Inc., recently attended a product introduction and training meeting on the new John Deere 6000 and 7000 Series tractors here.

The two-day meeting included classes on the totally new 66-to 145-hp tractors and field demonstrations. "Stick time" was provided so each participant could operate the tractors and experience firsthand many of the new features discussed in class.

"We are proud to offer farmers this all-new breed of power," said Noll. "See for yourself how John Deere has, once again, revolutionized farm tractors."

Approximately 4,500 John Deere dealers and dealer sales personnel mostly from the U.S. and Canada participated in the 11 two-day training sessions in Waterloo.

White-New Idea Appoints Two

COLDWATER, Ohio — Rod Cooper, president of White-New Idea, recently announced the following two appointments.

Appointed as the new vice president of sales/marketing is Curt Martel. Martel, with White-New Idea since 1988, previously served as controller. Martel has a bachelors in business administration/accounting from Concordia College in Moorhead, Minn. In addition to Martel's experience in all aspects of accounting functions, he held positions with the farm equipment division of Lear Siegler and Melroe Division of Clark Equipment Company.

Replacing Curt Martel as controller is Scott Lunger. Lunger, associated with White-New Idea since 1987, has been involved in all areas of the company, especially in his most recent position as director of information systems and continuous improvement. Lunger will retain general supervision of those areas in addition to his new responsibilities as controller. Because of his involvement in information systems and continuous improvement, Lunger's board broad-based involvement as well as his strong academic background (M.B.A. from Notre Dame with concentration in finance) will serve him well in his new responsibilities.

Messick Offers New Case Tractor

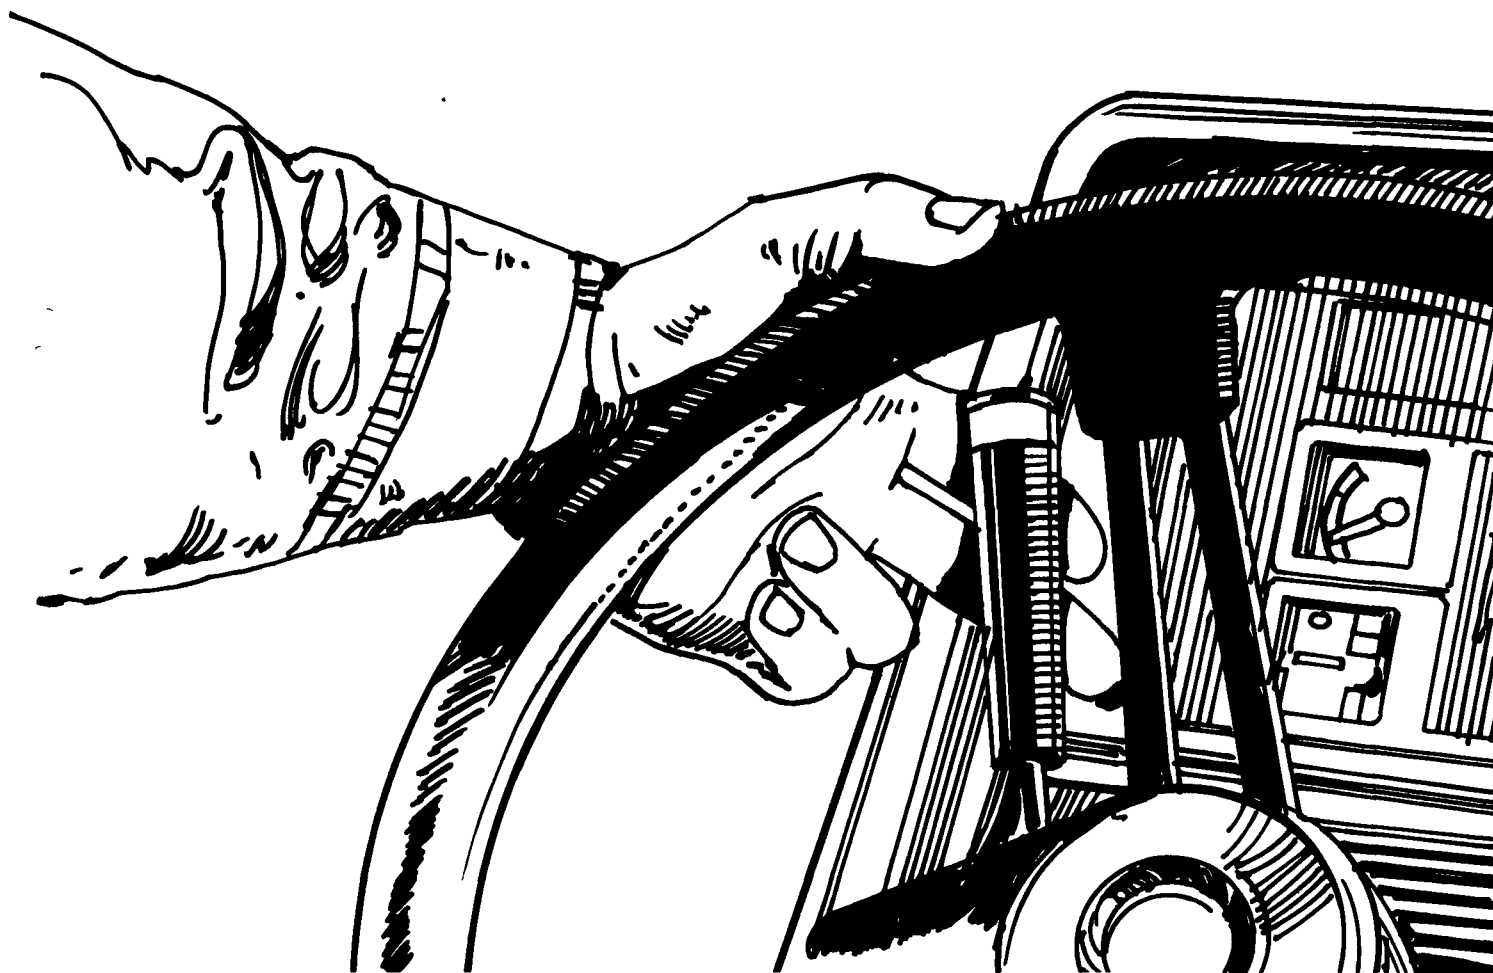

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Ken Messick of Messick Farm Equipment, Inc. stands with a new Case International 5250 MAXXUM tractor that tops the series with 112 PTO horsepower. He also announced enhancements to both MAXXUM and MAGNUM Series tractors.

Other features of the 5250 include cantilever-mounted engine, heavy-cast side rails for front-end strength, and a heavy weight-to-horsepower ratio, 6-inch box beam front axle on the two-wheel drive model and optional 3.5-inch bar-type rear axles. The 5250 is powered by the Case 6T-590 engine.

According to Messick, the new MAXXUM 5250 tractor also incorporates several enhancements that are now available for the entire MAXXUM Series. "Case has taken a product that was already considered the best in the field and made it better," said Messick.

THE MAXXUM® SHUTTLE SHIFT: IT'S NEVER BEEN EASIER TO MAKE ALL THE RIGHT MOVES.

While it may be tough to choose between the four new Case International 5200 Series MAXXUM tractors now available, one thing is certain: No matter which model you select, the industry's top shuttle-shift system comes standard. ■ And that means high-volume, high-speed loader work has never been easier. With the flip of a fingertip, your MAXXUM shuttles quickly and decisively from forward to reverse, or vice versa, without clutching. ■ The MAXXUM shuttle-shift is active between the first 12 forward speeds and the corresponding 12 reverse speeds, allowing shuttle shifts at forward speeds of more than eight mph and reverse speeds of more than 10 mph. ■ "Shuttle-shift" a new 5200 Series MAXXUM tractor yourself. Coming or going, there's never been anything like it.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that:

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

MEAT MATTERS MOST

HOME BRED lambs like these have been winning for me and my buyers in the Mid-Atlantic area. They LOOK GOOD. They HANDLE GOOD. They CUT GOOD. My latest triumph was Grand Champion carcass at the 1991 Keystone International Livestock Exposition. Check these stats.

FREE ADMISSION!

Our booth will be packed with the newest concepts for building or modernizing Cage houses, Broiler houses and Turkey houses.

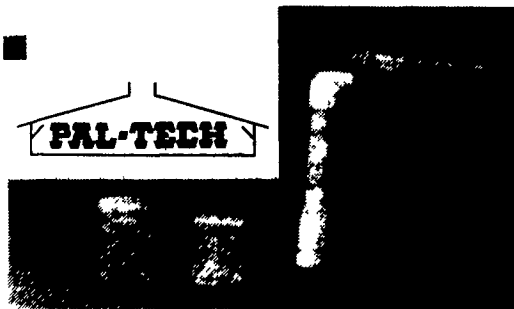

SEE ON DISPLAY:

See a Chore-Time TURBO ventilation system and learn how it provides year round, even temperatures, end to end - side to side - tier to tier and at the same time dries manure to a dusty - fly resistant - product!

Chore-Time Pullet cages with Ultraflo feeding. The system with the feeder outside the cage which reduces labor, mortality and feed waste.

MICRO-ZONE - The Ventilation computer anyone can install. It uses your existing electrical circuits. And it's affordable!

The Micro-Zone precisely controls temperature and humidity conditions in your building. It operates simply, is cost effective, and works like no other environmental controller has before.

How's that?

Because you eliminate the need for an electrician. The Micro-Zone uses your building's existing AC lines to tell your heating and ventilation equipment when to turn on and when to turn off.

If you've looked into the cost of installing a computer controlled system before then you know how much of a savings that means.

The PAL-TECH Micro-Zone is fully calibrated and ready to use. Simply hang it up and plug it in. Then connect your ventilation and heating equipment to our plug-in power line modules and you're done.

Operating the Micro-Zone is even simpler. Four simple "thermostat" like dials give you complete control, and a large, bright LED display lets you see, at a glance, what's happening in your building at any given moment.

It's Cool and the Corn's Wet

Don't pay to dry it. Store it
In a Harvestore® structure

Drying costs could be a shocker this year. To start, it's been a cool, wet summer. Then consider that the past couple years have been dry. So you may have to get ready for some higher than average drying bills... and some real traffic jams at the elevator.

Here's a better idea: Feed your livestock high-moisture grain. When stored in a Harvestore structure, it's a very efficient way to handle your wet corn ... and you can eliminate most of the waiting time, labor and cost of drying.

Your local authorized independent Harvestore® Systems dealer can tell you more. Stop by his office, or give him a call.

Apple Board Honors Donaldson

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Gettysburg orchard owner Guy Donaldson received a certificate of appreciation from the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Board to acknowledge his 12 years of outstanding service to the state's apple industry.

Donaldson recently completed his term as chairman of the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Board.

Donaldson owns and operates

Donaldson's Fruit Farms and Donaldson's Farm Market just west of Gettysburg.

The Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Board is the commonwealth's oldest grower-funded agricultural marketing program. Established in 1968 by the state's apple growers and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, the program provides consumer education, merchandising, public relations, and market information services.

Landowner Earns Tree Farmer Award

DOVER, Del. — E. Austin Short Jr. has helped promote the forest industry in Delaware. Because of his efforts, the Delaware Tree Farm Committee has selected him the 1992 Tree Farmer of the Year.

Short will be honored at a luncheon and awards ceremony Saturday, September 26, at Cape Henlopen State Park in Lewes.

Landowners newly certified for the state's Tree Farm System this year also will be recognized at the ceremony.

The national Tree Farm System encourages active forest management to maintain healthy, regenerating forests for future generations. Certified Tree Farmers must establish management plans and are subject to inspections every five years.

Short, a Georgetown resident, didn't join the Tree Farm family until 1988 when 100 of his 175 acres of woodland were certified. The remaining acreage will be certified this year. Short's primary management goal is timber production with secondary goals of wildlife habitat enhancement, soil and water protection, and personal recreation.

His involvement in forestry, though, began back in the 1940s as he helped his father harvest damaged, diseased or overmature trees for firewood. Short launched his own sawmill operation in 1950, selectively harvesting trees for lumber orders and performing custom sawing. Today he still maintains a small client base and does custom work.

Short's interest in forestry extends beyond his personal holdings. He has been a member of the Governor's Forestry Advisory Council since 1981, serving as chairman for two years. He is a charter member of the Delaware Forestry Association, founded in 1982. DFA was instrumental in developing state best management forestry practices to help improve water quality. He has served on the Delaware Tree Farm Committee since 1989.

His son, Austin III, is a professional forester with the Delaware Department of Agriculture. The younger Short, who earned bachelor and master degrees from Virginia Tech, concentrates on watershed forestry and wood energy.

With this concentrate feeding system LESS MEANS MORE

Dairymen report a 7-8% increase in milk yield with 5% less concentrate input with the new VA 500.

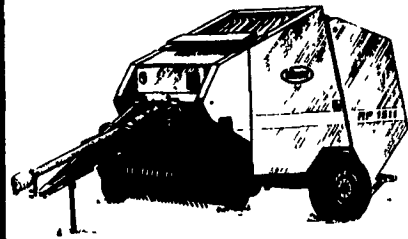

Each cow's ration is fed automatically according to her individual lactation curve. Feeding for production means high producing cows get more. Every cow pays her way. The whole herd can be housed together and you don't need complicated computer support systems for operation.

Make your concentrate work harder.

It pays to be square

For custom operators, Vicon's new Compact 800 high density baling system delivers baling speed and packing capacity - up to 20 to 24 tons of hay per hour - in a square package that's right for stacking, handling, transport and feeding.

Bales are 2'8" x 2'8" square, variable in length from 2'8" to 8'3". They stack like brick and mortar so hauling is safe and economical.

Maneuverable shape, variable sizes and layered composition make Compact 800 square bales the choice for handling and feeding in any operation.

The Square Answer.

Bringing technology down to earth.

Total performance for big crop harvesting

You get total performance when you harvest your crops with a Model 900 forage harvester. Total performance begins at the cutterhead. The 12 knives of the 21-inch cutterhead give you uniformly cut, high-quality forage. Other features on the "900" include:

- Metalert II® electronic metal detector (optional)—protects cutterhead and your valuable animals
- Electromagnetic clutches—give instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives
- Easy-adjust shearbar—makes adjustment fast and precise

Haul, unload your forage faster

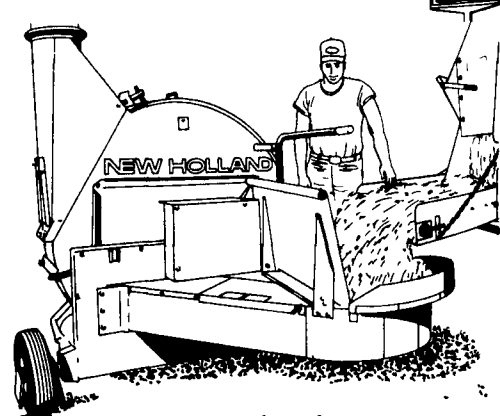

You can unload any crop quickly and efficiently with the new big-capacity Models 816 and 818 forage boxes from Ford New Holland. Roller chain drive provides unloading speeds of 3.0 and 7.1 feet-per-minute. And tough Duraply sides flex under heavy loads for season-after-season dependability. The "816" and "818" unload from the front and come standard with three self-aligned beaters and baked-enamel galvanized roof. For a closer look, stop in and see us about this new forage box.

Harvest your crop with the best in self-propelled harvesting

If you custom harvest as well as chop your own forage, a self-propelled harvester like the Model 1915 can help you harvest more crop at peak quality. The fuel-efficient 270-horsepower diesel engine and the 24-inch, 12-knife cutterhead give you high-capacity day-in and day-out harvesting. And the exclusive automatic knife sharpener and automatic shearbar adjuster, called Accucut™, combine to give you precision-sharpened knives and a reset shearbar, all from the comfort of the cab.

Stop in today and let us show you the other features of the "1915". Or better yet, let's set up a time to demonstrate this harvester in your own field.

We can help you prevent silo bottleneck

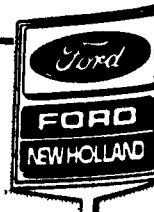

There's no need to slow down silo filling by using an inefficient blower. The New Holland Model 28 forage blower will put a halt to that. It's built to reduce plugging and save time. The Whirl-A-Feed® table breaks up heavy clumps and spins the crop into the blower at high speed. This means less drag on the fan and more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower. Stop in soon and let us show you how the Model 28 can save silo-blowing time for you.

NOT ALL FIELDS ARE PERFECTLY FLAT.

That's why the Bush Hog® model 2615 15-foot cutter's wings are designed to float along contours as severe as 90 degrees up or 22 degrees down while shredding stalks, clipping pastures or cutting along rights-of-way, drainage ditches, terraces and fence rows. As it does so, an automatic height adjustment keeps the wings cutting at the same height as the center section. A framing system featuring closed box members allows us to make the 2615 pounds lighter without sacrificing any of the strength you've come to expect from a Bush Hog. And, less weight not only means less wear and tear on your tractor but it has also allowed us to cut the price.

Why pay more to get less
— make Bush Hog's success
your success.

AN ALL-NEW BREED OF POWER

NEW 66- TO 145-HP JOHN DEERE 6000/7000 SERIES TRACTORS

Introducing six new tractors built to maximize your productivity and comfort.

Three all-new transmissions deliver more productivity. Choose from the 19-speed Power Shift (optional on 7000)...the 16-speed PowrQuad™ with four powershifts (standard on 7000, optional on 6000)...and the fully synchronized 12-speed SynchroPlus™ (standard on 6000).

All-new ComfortGard™ cab really enhances your productivity with 40 percent more room...an all-new air circulation system...and 29 percent more glass for superb visibility.

All-new John Deere hydraulics have greater capacity, faster cycle times. You get more pressure; easier hookup; greater 3-point hitch lift capacities; and easy-to-use controls. The best made even better.

There's much more in the All-New Breed of Power. See your dealer today.

SEMI-MOUNTED REVERSIBLE PLOWS

- Överum hydraulic stone trips have more travel than competitive rollover plows. Bottoms won't "Bottom Out" during tripping action
- Överum bottoms have a soil breaking angle which minimizes draft forces necessary to invert soil (approx. 20% horsepower savings)

Let you raise Volumaxx™ 15" higher than previous models, bringing it completely above the silo wall, so you can use a side distributor if you wish.

High Performance Roughage Auger

New 16° forward-pitched fighting design keeps material moving toward the center of the auger tube and away from the auger's digging action. Massive 10" auger gives you more efficiency and capacity.

Stainless Steel in Impeller/Blower Areas

New reversible rigid or swinging paddles, impeller band, and discharge throat V-Band are now all stainless steel for longer wear and less maintenance.

Stainless Steel Auger Shroud Cover

Features strong, corrosion-resistant type 409 stainless steel construction.
